SMASH AT AXIS ON LIBYA FRONT

EARLY HOLIDAY CRASHES KILL ONE, INJURE TWO

Shiloh Man, 25, Meets Death on Way Home From Work In Mansfield Plant.

STRIKES TREE AND POLE

Two Mansfield Youths Hurt as Roadster Upsets on Wet Road North of City.

One man was killed and two were injured in separate early Thanksgiving day accidents north of Mansfield on slippery State Route 13.

Killed was Robert James Brown, 25, of Shiloh R. D. 1. He died of a skull fracture and broken neck when his car skidded off the road and struck a tree and a utility pole, about six miles north of the city.

Injured were Russell Stoodt, 19, of Laver road, and Robert Emerson, 19, Mansfield R. D. 5. Both were lacerated and bruised.

Their automobile skidded from the same highway about a mile south of where Brown met death an hour earlier.

Brown, an employe of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, was on his way home from work on the night shift when the accident occurred.

Deputy Sheriff C. C. Gongwer said Brown evidently lost control of his car on the wet, slippery pavement. It left the highway, struck a tree and a telephone pole and landed in a field at the edge of the road.

Robert May of Norwalk, passing on the same highway a few minutes later, called the sheriff's office at 3:45 a. m. to report the accident.

Brown's death was the 23rd traffic fatality in Richland county this year as compared to 15 for the same date a year ago.

His body was taken to the Finefrock mortuary where an examination by County Coroner L. B. McCullough revealed the skull fracture and broken neck. He died almost instantly, the coroner said.

Parents of the youth were notified.

In the accident in which Stoodt and Emerson were injured, their roadster went out of control at the top of a hill, struck a roadside mailbox and then upset in a ditch.

Both were taken to General hospital where they were treated for lacerations and bruises and then taken home.

MARRY TODAY

Military Wedding To Unite 2 Prominent Mansfielders.

Two prominent young Mansfielders, Miss Katherine Belle Fighter and Ensign Thomas B. Wright, of the U. S. navy, were to be married today in a military ceremony at the Presidio in San Francisco, Calif.

Miss Fighter is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Fighter, 492 Bowman street. Her father is secretary-treasurer of the Richland Trust company.

Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Wright, 198 Park avenue west, went to California in September to attend the Merchant Marine school in San Francisco. Shortly before going to the west coast he completed three months training at the Northwestern University Naval Reserve Midshipman school at Evanston, Ill. Previously he attended Northwestern university.

The marriage ceremony was to be read by Capt. H. M. Peterson.

Guild Opposes Intervention In Struggle, But Would Feed Europe's Hungry.

A firm stand against the United States' intervention in the present war and a resolution calling for repeal of the AAA wheat marketing quotas and the restrictions on farm crops were adopted Wednesday afternoon by delegates of the National Farmer's Guild at the close of their annual convention here.

The delegates, representing farmers' union chapters in a number of midwestern and eastern states, passed 19 resolutions covering a variety of subjects. Six of them deal directly or indirectly with the war and its effect upon the United States.

EXECUTIVE DIES

C. S. Stillwell Rose From Apprentice To Firm Presidency.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—From apprentice to executive of one of the nation's largest machine tool plants—that's the career story of Clifford S. Stilwell, president of the National Machine Tool Builders' association, who is dead at 51.

Stilwell, executive vice president of Warner & Swasey Co. of Cleveland, died late yesterday at St. Luke's hospital. He had suffered a heart attack 10 days earlier.

5,100 Mansfielders to Get $240,000 In Christmas Checks

Their savings marking an increase of ten per cent over last year's record, Mansfield residents taking part in Christmas savings clubs will have nearly a quarter of a million dollars to spend for holiday shopping and celebration this year.

Mansfield's leading banks reported yesterday that they expected to pay out a total of $240,000 to approximately 5,100 persons during the first week in December.

The Christmas savings checks will be mailed out to depositors early so that the money may be spent for Christmas shopping, to add to previous savings and to pay off debts contracted in the past year.

Last year, 5,000 persons participated in the Christmas club plan and saved a total of $220,000. This was a 10 per cent drop from the 1939 record.

Other persons who did not take advantage of the Christmas club plan to save money for the holiday season will be given an opportunity to start saving 1942's Christmas within the next few weeks. Mansfield banks will begin accepting payments on next year's club after Dec. 1. Payments range from 50 cents to $10 weekly.

ATTACK CONVOY

Subs Trail Vessels, Sink Two, Survivors Report.

A CANADIAN PORT — (AP) — Five survivors of a torpedoed British freighter who just have been landed at a Canadian port said today hostile submarines picked up the convoy in which they sailed 30 miles off the Canadian Atlantic coast.

They said the submarines trailed the convoy for three days before sinking their vessel, and another, "a few hundred miles" beyond Belle Isle on the Atlantic side of the Strait of Belle Isle.

The Strait of Belle Isle separates Labrador and Newfoundland.

The five seamen, picked up by a Canadian corvette, were the only survivors of a crew of 43 aboard the British freighter which sank in 40 seconds.

They said that they believed that most of the crew of another freighter sunk at the same time had been rescued and landed in St. John's, Newfoundland.

HOPES OF COAL STRIKE ACCORD ARE VANISHING

Lewis Won't Budge Despite New Appeal From FDR To End Walkout.

CONGRESS SET TO ACT

Observers See Intervention By Government Inevitable; 50,000 Troops Ready.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Hopes for settlement of the captive coal strike without government action reached the vanishing point today, as John L. Lewis refused to budge from his no-compromise position despite a fresh effort by President Roosevelt to end the walkout.

In flatly rejecting the new peace formula, the chief of CIO's United Mine Workers said that he spoke solely for himself and that no formal reply was possible until the union's policy committee meets Saturday. However, no one in labor or government circles doubted that the committee would uphold his verdict.

When the committee officially confirms Lewis' refusal, informed sources believe, it will make federal intervention virtually inevitable — although there was still some difference of opinion what form this intervention would take.

Some authoritative sources seemed convinced that the president would have the army take over the mines with the 50,000 troops which have been mobilized and instructed for such special duty. Others however would not rule out the possibility that the chief executive would first seek a legislative answer to the problem.

On Capitol Hill, the disposition was to go ahead speedily with legislation to curb defense strikes, regardless of the outcome of the captive coal controversy.

Senator Connally (D-Tex.) told reporters that congress ought to legislate in a broad form to cover all cases.

"While I hope that this strike will be settled," he said, "we've got to go ahead to cover all cases of the future. Curing one case of colic does not insure the health of the community for all time."

Senator Bridges (R-N. H.) agreed with this reasoning.

"Some definite formula of curbing defense strikes must be written into legislation," Bridges asserted. "The president should take the leadership in recommending such action and if he fails to do that, congress ought to act anyhow."

There was almost universal ap-

COULD DO IT

Nye Says U. S. Able To Effect Sino-Jap Settlement.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Senator Nye (R., N. D.) said today he was convinced the United States could end the Sino-Japanese war on a satisfactory basis and prevent further hostilities in the Pacific if it was willing to "help Japan save her face" by agreeing to relatively minor concessions for Japan in China.

"The trouble is," he told reporters, "that the administration doesn't want to settle this thing because it is largely responsible for any war fever that may be felt in this country now."

Nye, a member of the senate foreign relations committee who has opposed administration international moves, voiced the belief that most of the tension in the Orient could be eliminated by countenancing the establishment of Japanese air bases at two or three points in China, such as Shanghai, where she has had territorial rights for years.

Mansfield Thinks of Europe, Then Counts Over Its Blessings

City and County Residents Find Lot To Be Thankful for as They Worship And Prepare for Feasting Today.

With more than the usual number of things to be thankful for, Mansfield and Richland county residents today observed the state's last "early" Thanksgiving. Next year Ohio and all the other states will go back to the last Thursday in November for the Thanksgiving observance.

Like other Americans, Mansfielders were thankful, first of all, that they live in a land that is not torn by war and have not sent their sons into the war across the ocean. Business in Mansfield has set records this year and incomes generally have been larger.

The county's farmers were thankful for one of their best years. Crops were good and prices were higher for the things farmers produce.

Families planned their biggest holiday dinner in years as relatives came home to help observe the day. Homes throughout the city and county were scenes of family gatherings and good will which ranked the day second only to Christmas.

There was little activity in the city's business section as stores closed for the day and city, county, and state office workers took the holiday. Only the police officers, firemen, filling station and restaurant workers were on duty, and in most cases the offices and firms that remained open operated with reduced staffs.

Thousands of Mansfield residents went to church last night and this morning to offer thanks for their blessings of the past year. Union Thanksgiving services were held last night at the Grace Episcopal, Central Methodist, and St. Luke's Lutheran churches. There were special services at the Mayflower Congregational church and St. Matthew's Lutheran church. Annual Thanksgiving services were held at 11 a. m., today at the First Church of Christ, Scientist.

Schools in the city and county were dismissed yesterday afternoon following special Thanksgiving programs. Pupils will not have to go back to their books until Monday morning.

After they finish their Thanksgiving dinner, Mansfielders will have a high school football game on the menu for this afternoon, the Tygers meeting Fremont in a holiday contest at 2:30 p. m., at Stadium Field.

Civic clubs and organizations in Mansfield made the day brighter for about 20 needy families with baskets of food distributed through the Friendly House.

Inmates of the Mansfield reformatory and county jail observed the holiday with special chicken dinners. A chapel program and band concert were on the schedule for this afternoon at the reformatory.

Exactly five weeks before Christmas, the Thanksgiving holiday marks the official start of the Christmas holiday shopping season in Mansfield. Street decorations are going up and stores tomorrow will begin showing their holiday goods and urging shoppers to buy early to avoid the rush.

U. S. Tells France Re-Study of Relations Needed, Hints Rupture.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — The United States put Vichy on notice today that this government was compelled to make a complete restudy of relations with France, because of the renewed signs that the French regime was moving toward closer collaboration with Germany.

The notice carried a frank warning, informed sources said, which intimated that severance of diplomatic relations was a possibility. Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles stated the case to Gaston Henry-Haye, the French ambassador, during a conference yesterday.

The United States attitude was made clear to the French just at the moment when a British Imperial army was loosing a major offensive against the Axis in

SHIP AGROUND

Alaska Steamer Reported Stranded In Strait.

SEATTLE — (AP) — The coast guard received a message early today that the passenger liner Cordova of the Alaska Steamship company had run aground on Woody Point in Chatham strait.

Chatham strait is a narrow and treacherous passage on the inside of Baranof island between Ketchikan and Juneau, Alaska.

The Cordova was southbound from Juneau for Ketchikan and was due in Seattle Saturday. The ship is one of the smaller Alaska liners, of 2,089 gross tons. She is 238 feet long.

Fleet, Air Force Join Sudden Drive To Push Italians, Nazis Out of Africa.

BULLETIN

BERLIN — (AP)—The German high command said today German and Italian counter-attacks have thrown back strong British forces west of Sidi Omar in Libya with heavy losses.

BULLETIN

LONDON—(AP)—An authoritative British source said today the main objective of the British Libyan offensive was to destroy the German and Italian armies and that the decision might come within "a few hours."

(By Associated Press)

CAIRO, Egypt—An American-equipped British imperial army of 750,000—as big as the operating space permits—drove deep into Libya today with strong RAF and royal navy support in a triple onslaught aimed at eliminating the Axis from North Africa, creating a diversion to aid Russia, and eventually knocking Italy out of the war.

The big offensive began secretly at dawn on Tuesday on a 140-mile front swinging from the sea clear down to the oasis of Giarabub.

The onslaught set the armies of Germany and Italy back on their heels in shocked surprise, so closely had the British secret been guarded, British reports said.

In the first onrush, against comparatively little opposition, the British swept westward to a depth of more than 50 miles, the first communique on the offensive said.

British advices added that numbers of Germans had been captured, that Italian forces were falling back, that the fleet has bombarded the stubborn gateway of Halfaya (Hellfire) Pass, and that the air force has wrought tremendous damage to German-Italian positions and airdromes along the coast.

That the re-invasion of Libya would not continue to be so easy was acknowledged, British officers stating that the Germans have built up a force of seasoned veterans in fortified positions, despite the constant losses inflicted by the British fleet on the Axis transport system from Europe.

This German army, bolstered

5 Killed By Fire, Fumes, Cattle Die In Tunnel Tragedy

VAN NUYS, Cal. —(AP)— Three crewmen of a southern California freight train, trapped by the very device designed to insure their safety in an emergency, died heroes in a hell of fire, smoke and gas fumes in a 7,000-foot tunnel yesterday.

Two other men, stowaways, also were asphyxiated and five crewmen were burned and nauseated after the 96-car freight stalled in Hasson tunnel on the Ventura-Los Angeles county line.

A coupling broke, setting the automatic air brakes and halting the train halfway through the bore. Flames shot from the oil burner beneath the cab. Thick

Stores In Holiday Dress As Christmas Season Arrives

Mansfield stores will be arrayed in holiday dress tomorrow when the Christmas shopping season officially opens and thousands upon thousands of dollars worth of gifts are spread before the public.

Fast assuming a Yuletide atmosphere with the decoration of "white way" posts and the hanging of colored "stringers," the business district will be gay with holiday lights beginning next Thursday night when the lights are turned on for the first time this year.

The shopping season, lengthened again this year by the advancement of Thanksgiving day to the third Thursday of November, gives the Christmas customer an extra week in which to do their shopping.

Every department in Mansfield stores is well stocked but the old slogan of "Do Your Christmas Shopping Early," has taken on a new meaning this year in the face of shortages applicable to stock that is on the counter now but cannot be re-ordered due to priorities.

"People should shop early to get a selection," V. H. Lodde, secretary of the Retail Merchants association, said today, "as there is no question but what there is a shortage in some lines of merchandise."

Downtown Christmas decorations will strike a new note this year with lamp posts being decorated with large arbor vitae wreaths, each trimmed with six large colored lights. Pine roping strung with colored lights of the same shade will also be used on each post with the lights alternated so that one post is all in red and the next one in blue or gold as the case may be.

Streets will be spanned with colored "stringers" with a star center. Some new stars have been acquired this year and these pieces have 20 lights, all white.

Central park fountain will be lighted to resemble a bell and six lighted Christmas trees will be other features of the park decoration. The Retail Merchants association is sponsoring the downtown lighting through the co-operation of retailers and business and financial institutions.

The association also expects to work jointly with the Mansfield parks association on a program of Christmas music similar to that given last year.

Stores will be staffed with additional help to assist shoppers and the association will recommend evening store hours for a certain period in December.

BRITISH SMASH AT AXIS WITH LIBYAN DRIVE

Triple Force of 750,000 Men Lunges 50 Miles In First Onslaught.

by Italians, must face a British striking force which is avowedly the newest, finest and best- equipped in the empire.

The joint British command is headed by Lieut. Gen. Sir Alan Gordon Cunningham for the army; his brother, Admiral Sir Andrew Browne Cunningham, for the navy, and Air Vice-Marshal Arthur Congingham, an Australian, for the RAF.

That the offensive was the long-awaited and carefully planned answer to the cry for British initiative was signified by the fact that a special message from Prime Minister Churchill was read to the three branches participating just before the blow fell on the Axis outposts.

There was an intimation that the British advance may have been planned even sooner, it being stated that bad weather delayed preparatory bombings by the RAF.

When the blow fell, however, it was heavy, the air ministry saying the RAF had attacked and was attacking "a variety of targets with a ferocity never yet seen or experienced in North Africa." Seven Axis troop carriers were claimed shot down in one preliminary engagement.

The land forces moved up to the barren border zone on Monday night and bivouacked for a few hours of sleep. But a rainstorm swept over the desert.

In his secret underground headquarters, General Cunningham refused to let this delay him, declaring that he knew his task was a tough one but was confident of success and that the morale of his men was so high "they have their tails straight up."

As the man who crushed the Italian East African empire, he has experienced plenty of bad weather and rough going before.

The phenomenally hard rain packed the sands on the high plateau but washed out roads and trails nearer the coast. It suddenly stopped in the morning.

The going was admittedly made difficult along shore, where two German armored divisions were spread out, but both sides were troubled for the RAF reported sighting 200 Italian tanks, armored cars and trucks bogged down in one sector.

It was at Sidi Omar, a score of miles south of the Mediterranean shore, and at Fort Maddelena, 50 miles from the coast, that the main force of the British armored thrust was first directed, squadrons of tanks from the United States dashing across the sands.

The British appeared intent on a flanking movement, aimed at getting around the powerfully-defended Axis border fortress of Bardia—and perhaps forming an early juncture with the British forces at Tobruk, besieged since last April 11. Free Polish troops recently have reinforced that garrison, which has vowed never to march out except to meet its own men.

The British forces—far different from the "token army" with which Sir Archibald P. Wavell drove across most of Libya in 35 days last winter and then was driven out again in 18 last spring—are heavily equipped with the finest weapons from Britain and the United States.

For four months past, American-made planes, tanks, guns, bombs and bullets have been heaped in ever-increasing numbers on Egyptian docksides. Whole units of the new army are fitted with American tanks; many squadrons of bombers and fighters are formed entirely of U. S. manufactured aircraft.

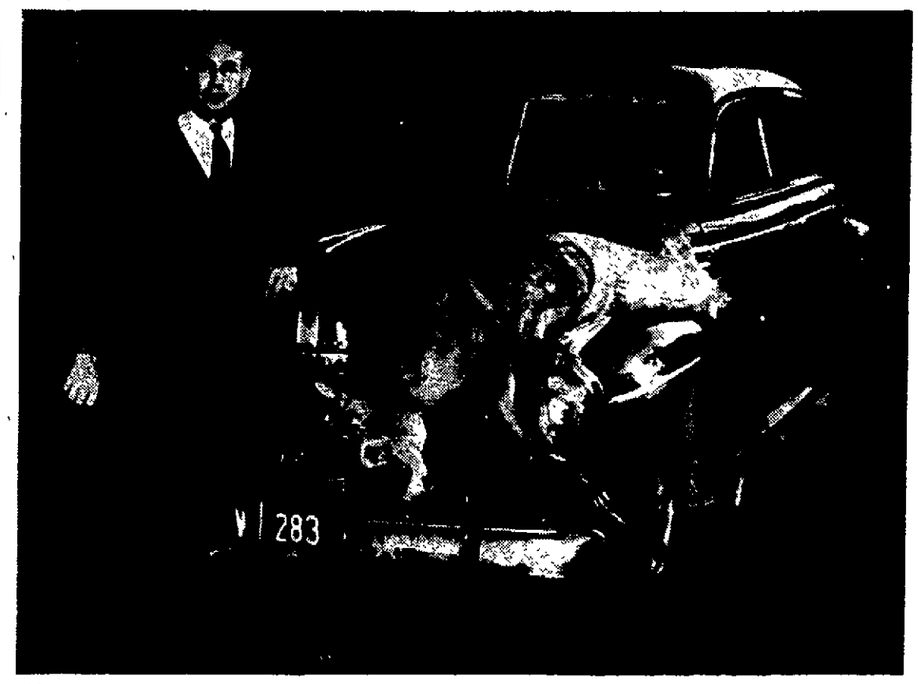
Mansfielder Gets Deer on Second Trip North



Although he started almost a month ago to get a deer, it really only took Walter Larimore, 283 Abbeyfeale road, Mansfield realtor, three days to get it. Larimore went to Houghton Lake, Mich., early last month on a hunting trip. After he had been there a day, he received word that his father, C. D. Larimore, Mt. Late Monday, he returned home with a 200-pound deer with six-point antlers. In the picture above, Larimore poses with the deer tied to his car.

Vichy Won't Deny Rumors as General Leaves.

VICHY, Unoccupied France —(AP)— General Maxime Weygand left Vichy for "somewhere in southern France" today amid undenied reports that he had resigned as Marshal Petain's proconsul and military commander in North Africa.

His departure after three days of conferences with his chief coincided with a demand voiced through the German-controlled Paris newspaper, Noveaux Temps, for immediate defense of Africa against what was described as "British-American attack."

The newspaper declared "American influences" should be cleaned out of North Africa, and attacked Admiral William D. Leahy, United States ambassador who conferred urgently yesterday with Petain.

COAL ACCORD HOPES WANING

Lewis Won't Budge Despite New Appeal From FDR To End Walkout.

proval in congress for the formula which Mr. Roosevelt advanced yesterday to get the idle mines back in production.

The president recommended that further discussion of the one point at issue—the closed shop, in his words—be deferred until the national emergency is over, or that this question be submitted to arbitration, with the union and the mine operators agreeing in advance to abide by the result.

Lewis, the field marshal of UMW's fight to win a union shop, replied that officers of the union had no authority from the membership to agree to anything save a "union shop"—a system under which all miners would have to join the union after a probationary employment period.

Turning to the arbitration proposal, he said that he considered Mr. Roosevelt's recent statements in the controversy so "prejudicial" to the union's claims that he doubted whether an impartial arbiter could be found.

One of the biggest operators in the dispute, the U. S. Steel corporation, took the opposite position. It announced its readiness to pursue either of the methods proposed in the White House formula. The big steel companies own the captive mines and use the output of the pits instead of marketing it commercially as the other soft coal mines do.

Lewis' prompt rejection of the formula on his own behalf was interpreted in some quarters as a move that blocked any other action by the policy committee, although the committee can be counted on to support him staunchly.

One source said it gave Lewis the jump on Philip Murray, national president of the CIO and vice president of the UMW. Murray strongly approves of the administration's foreign policy, although he has been in the opposite camp on the captive strike issue. This source said, however, that the Lewis refusal made it impossible for Murray to accede to President Roosevelt's new proposals, even if he should be so minded.

President Roosevelt, one official stated, seems to be building up a record patiently in the public's eye, so that when a showdown comes—whether it be using troops to offer protection to any miners desiring to work, or legislation restricting defense strikes—he can point to that record and say that he has exhausted all reasonable methods.

Mr. Roosevelt was said to be under terrific pressure from his advisors to act soon, but no step was considered likely until after the CIO policy meeting Saturday.

President Roosevelt called another White House conference for tomorrow on the threatened strike of 350,000 railroad men, members of five operating brotherhoods. They have announced they plan to walk out December 7 to enforce their demand for a 30 per cent wage increase. The president's fact-finding board has recommended a 7½ per cent pay rise, which the union men rejected. The lowest paid operating personnel now receives $5.06 a day.

About 900,000 other railroad employes, members of 14 non-operating unions, have threatened to strike but have set no date. They seek increases of 30 to 34 cents an hour over their current pay range of 35 to 85 cents an hour. The president's board recommended an increase of 9 cents an hour.

"The private and personal blessings we enjoy, the blessings of immunity, safeguard, liberty, and integrity, deserve the thanksgiving of a whole life."—Jeremy Taylor.

Day for Check-up of Blessings

OBSERVANCE of one day each year as a holiday specially set aside to give thanks for blessings enjoyed by individuals, families, and the nation, seems much like concentrating a single day's attention on such elemental requirements as air, water, warmth, and sufficient food to provide sustenance.

It was in expression of gratitude for the simple things of life that the Pilgrim Fathers observed their first Thanksgiving, appreciative of crops sufficient to sustain life through the approaching winter and thankful for the freedom of worship and liberty of beliefs and actions which they had attained by coming to this new country.

During the more than three hundred years that have passed since that first Thanksgiving day a great nation has developed from those humble beginnings, and it would seem that there are many more things for which Americans should be thankful today than at any time in the past.

But material gains have brought vastly increased requirements, and luxuries have changed to necessities at such a rapid pace that thankfulness for small things is far from the thoughts of many people—for whom this is merely another holiday, the significance of which is totally disregarded.

There are others, however, who are appreciative of the great benefits that have come to them because of the good fortune of being Americans, and who are not only thankful to the Divine Providence in which they trust, but who are also willing and anxious to do their full share in preserving the heritage of freedom that has come to them, so that it may pass to future generations of Americans.

"Life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness," and "government of the people, by the people and for the people," may seem hackneyed expressions of past ideals, yet—for this year at least—they represent a way of life for which every American may well be thankful.

Just Getting Ready To Start

AGENCIES of government are trying to handle defense production and priorities in such a way that non-defense industries will suffer as little as possible and employment dislocation will be held to a minimum. But that is only half the story. Donald M. Nelson of OPM, addressing the New England council at its annual meeting on Nov. 13, emphasized the other half.

The defense program, he told his audience of governors and other state leaders, "is not a WPA project for industry." Industrialists who foresee trouble, or find themselves already in a jam, should get out and exert an extra amount of the free enterprise they believe in and want to preserve.

The United States became a great nation because its citizens dared to fight their way through all perils to victory. In the present emergency—probably the most serious this nation has ever faced—Americans, individually and collectively, should adopt the attitude of fiery John Paul Jones and cry, "Licked? Why we haven't begun to fight!"

Purposes of the Red Cross

THE QUESTIONS are occasionally asked, "Who operates the Red Cross; is it a government institution; where does it get its money?"

So much is known about the Red Cross, and the vastness of its work, it seems odd that anyone in America needs ask these questions. Special emphasis is placed on this organization's activities and needs in November, in connection with the annual membership rollcall now in progress.

It may be assumed that most people know what the Red Cross is, and what it does, although some may have forgotten that it was chartered by an act of congress in 1905.

> Its official purpose is "to furnish volunteer aid to the sick and wounded of armies in time of war in accordance with the convention of Geneva; to act in matters of voluntary relief and in accord with the military and naval authorities as a medium of communication between the American people and their army and navy; to continue and carry on a system of national and international relief in time of peace, and to apply the same in mitigating the suffering caused by pestilence, famine, fire, floods and other great national calamities, and devise and carry on measures for preventing the same."

Holding to those purposes, the work of the American Red Cross has grown and has come to include extensive public education in home nursing, life-saving, accident prevention, and so on. It "gets its money" from the American people, millions of whom join it and pay $1 a year as dues. Others give larger sums to support the work. The war department audits Red Cross accounts and submits an annual report to congress. And thus, year in, year out, in war and in peace, its great humanitarian work goes on.

Oppose Non-Essential Spending

THE FACT that the defense program has not lived up to forecasts, largely because of a shortage of certain basic materials, should cause congress to turn thumbs down on any and all construction projects which are not absolutely necessary.

The St. Lawrence project would be an excellent place to start. If this grandiose project were approved, it would require, over a period of many years, tremendous quantities of materials, plus billions of man-hours of labor, which are needed for real and indispensable defense activity.

On top of that, the St. Lawrence project would seriously harm basic industries whose economic health is vital to the country both in times of peace and war.

"All out" defense effort involves two things. First, it means that all the energies of the country be given to building an impregnable military machine. Second, and equally important, it means that all governmental non-essential spending should be abandoned.

One economist figures that by 1980 the national debt will reach three hundred billion dollars—unless by that time there is a newer New Deal.

Somebody has said that the United States has more brains than any other country—and somebody else will probably add, "such as they are."

They tell of a socialite who sang at night clubs for a lark—until the listeners expressed preference for the lark.

People miss many important things by not reading the small print—as in insurance policies, for instance.

LET US GIVE THANKS!

Nazi Bigwigs Stay In Background

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

A FRIEND of mine has just completed a rather peculiar assignment. For encyclopediac purposes some publishing house wanted a list of Nazidom's prominent men, with a biographical sketch of each of them. The job of getting up this record was wished onto my acquaintance.

Starting in at it, he immediately discovered that even the compilation of anything like a full list was near impossibility.

Communism's celebrities were easy enough to locate. Newspaper morgues were full of stories about and pictures of 'em. Apparently they weren't a bit averse to plenty of publicity.

Information concerning the Nazis, though, was worse than skimpy.

Of course, anybody'd think of Herr Hitler, whose original name, if you don't happen to know it already, was Schicklgruber. Marshal Goering, Herr Goebbels, Gestapo Chief Himmler, Foreign Minister von Ribbentrop (he himself stuck in the "von," which he isn't entitled to, to make his monicker sound aristocratic) and Rudolf Hess also were fairly obvious.

But farther than that down the line, Nazidom's notabilities seem to have had a passion for anonymity. My friend dug up a few more of 'em, but he had an awful time doing it.

"Now, what," he asked me, "is the reason why, with the Communistic big bugs so willing to advertise 'emselves, the Nazis are so darned reticent?"

I paused and reflected.

Communists Older

For one thing, the Communists made their getaway considerably sooner than the Nazis did and civilization has had longer to identify the outstanding personalities among the former.

Another item is that the Soviet regime ushered itself in by means of a spectacular revolution, which attracted worldwide attention to the individuals conspicuously participant in it, whereas Nazidom's rise was by a somewhat gradual process, not so much of "rev" as of "ev"-olution.

"Furthermore," observed my friend, "I get the impression that those leading Communists are outright proud of being human polecats and take actual pains to broadcast their effuivum, but the Nazis, except half a dozen of 'em, prefer to keep theirs inside their own respective systems."

I think that maybe there's a bit of merit in this surmise.

Germany didn't have an ideal government under the kaiser, but it wasn't so bad in Von Hindenberg's day with the marshal at its head, as Wilhelm's successor. Perhaps there are secretly right-thinking ostensible Nazis who don't like to proclaim themselves as associated with the system that got their country hated as it is today.

The Russian revolutionists, however, initially were a well-meaning aggregation.

Nobody disputed that czarism was terrible. The revolutionary plotters had been working, under cover, because anyone caught at it was bumped off in short order, to overthrow it. When, finally, they got away with it, it's understandable that they thought they'd accomplished something to brag about.

From Lenin to Stalin

I've always believed that the original revolutionists planned to go ahead as regular democrats, but Lenin died and Stalin, getting into control, gave things a twist in a totalitarian direction.

At that, it's no worse than czarism was, and Nazi-ism IS worse than Hindenberg-ism or even kaiserism were.

So possibly my friend's right in his surmisé that the Communistic higher-ups still have some pride in being the polecats he says they are, whereas the Nazi-istic crew are hesitant to tell the world that they favor polecattery also.

Paul Hehman was elected vice president of the Pre-Junior section A Engineers at the University of Detroit.

Max Dorner was removed to a Lima hospital for medical treatment.

Listen World!

Thanks . . . for What?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

(The Pilgrims set apart a day for Thanksgiving at Plymouth, immediately after their first harvest in 1621. Other Thanksgiving days were observed, from time to time, in the years preceding the Revolution. But not until President Washington appointed a nationwide Thanksgiving—Nov. 26, 1789—did we approach the idea of a national Thanksgiving day. And never, in all the years between that date and this, has its meaning pressed so permanently on our hearts.)

SIXTEEN hundred and twenty-one. Twilight over the endless woods . . . the rough huts . . . the few, crudely ploughed, newly harvested fields. Twilight, with storm in the offing. The faintly sour smell of gathering snow and exhausted earth. The rustle of dead leaves across the frozen soil. The snarl of sulky surf beyond the hill young Abigail had climbed.

She was tired, young Abigail. Deeply, bitterly weary. All day she had toiled with the other women. But now that the "feast" was over, she could give way. Behind her, around the pits where the food had cooked all day, the old people rested, children played, Indians smoked, brought freshly hewn logs.

Faintly their laughter rose to the exhausted girl, but in her heart there was no merriment, no glow of pride over the courage shown, no healing peace because they'd "kept the faith." Only the constant fear.

"Thanksgiving day," they called it. She gave a twisted smile. "A feast" . . . this meagre fare one shared with savages? Parched grain, from scanty harvest in the untamed soil. Strange roots and herbs the Indians had brought—as alien to English palates as a mountain lion's wail to English ears.

Upon the sizzling spits were haunches of venison . . . wild geese and porcupine and squirrels, tasting of cinders. Pails of shellfish . . . oysters, scallops, clams. A golden pudding piled with nuts. Good food, perhaps but rough, smoke seasoned. The only ornament a wreath of scarlet leaves!

"A feast!" Her soft throat swelled upon a sob. She thought of English feasts, a year ago. Dark, shining tables covered with rare lace, rich food, old silver. Soft candlelight and laughter, and the muted songs of flutes and violins.

Twelve months of this! Death lurking under every log they felled. . . . Death crawling, like an adder, in each furrow that they ploughed. In that first winter, they had buried half of those who'd come, smoothing the graves and planting grain against the spring, to hide their tragic plight from wolves and Indians!

Give thanks for this! Her eyes dimmed swiftly with hot, lonely tears. Rebellion beat like drums within her veins. And then—

Across the sky, the sunset fires flared. The weary soil, the withered trees turned gold. And, in her heart, the old, bright vision flamed.

Give thanks for what? For that same dream which seemed so glorious a year before! For that which men had lived and died for, since the world began! For freedom . . . and true Friendliness from man to man! For that old, sacred right to Be Yourself . . . and find your God in any way you could!

GIVE THANKS FOR WHAT? FOR THAT! FOR THAT—THE RICHEST, RAREST RIGHT A MAN MIGHT HAVE . . . OR PASS ON TO THE CHILDREN YET TO COME!

THREE hundred and twenty years. Again the fires flame, against as dark a sky as men have ever seen. Again we gather to give thanks—FOR WHAT?

FOR THAT SAME VISION SHE SAW THAT DAY, YOUNG ABIGAIL! FOR THAT TALL HOPE WHICH ROSE ABOVE THE STORM . . . FOR THAT DEEP PRIDE WHICH SHAMED THE SULKY FLESH . . . FOR ALL THAT FIGHTING FAITH WHICH SWEPT DESPAIR ASIDE . . . AND RAISED WEAK HUMANS TO THE LEVEL OF TRIUMPHANT GODS!

Give thanks for—what?

For all the challenge . . . all the sacrifice . . . the pain.

For all that made them know they had not lived in vain.

THEY'D BUILT AMERICA!

Sinking of the Ark Royal Starts U-Boat Attacks In Mediterranean

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Though he has stayed out of the limelight, few men have played a more important role in the recent war effort than Maj-Gen. James Burns, the man Roosevelt is picking as our new ambassador to Russia.

For about a year Gen. Burns has been attached to the White House to expedite lend-lease goods to Britain and Russia. He has done a hard-driving, efficient job.

More recently, when he accompanied Averell Harriman to Russia, Gen. Burns was the one man in the mission who got out of Moscow and had a look-see at the long Russian front extending south to the Caucasus.

One story he brought back from that trip was how the Russians had picked up an entire airdrome from in front of the Nazi attack, transported it well behind the lines, and set it up with underground machine shops and hangars in thirty days.

The man who really discovered Burns was Louis Johnson, ex-assistant secretary of war. Burns was a low-ranking colonel buried in the war department when Johnson recognized his ability and put him in charge of industrial mobilization.

As Johnson was about to retire as assistant secretary, Gen. Marshall asked if he had any final requests to make.

"There is just one thing you can do for me," Johnson replied. "Promote Colonel Burns to the rank of major-general."

Burns got the promotion, and also was assigned to the White House where he has been almost ever since.

Note—National defense would be far better off today if the war department had followed the industrial mobilization plan worked out by Burns and Louis Johnson.

The Ark Royal.

THE BRITISH had good reason for carefully holding back some of the story regarding the sinking of the Ark Royal. All of the facts still are not out, and will not be for some time. But the best inside information is that the sinking was a far graver event than appeared on the surface, because it marked the beginning of a wholesale Nazi submarine campaign in the Mediterranean.

Not published was the fact that the British had six destroyers guarding the Ark Royal at the time it was hit.

Airplane carriers of this kind are not heavily armored, are extremely vulnerable, and are so hard to replace that they are carefully guarded day and night.

Therefore, the Nazi submarine which sent the giant carrier to her grave probably was one of a nest of subs which lay in wait with engines muffled.

With France fully in the Nazi embrace, this kind of warfare is what the British will have to face in the Mediterranean. Counting Italian submarines, and the undersea craft which the French fleet will doubtless add to Germany's, Hitler will have a total of about 200 subs in the Mediterranean.

Almost equally important, he will certainly have the advantage of French naval bases, which with the Italian, Spanish and African bases he already commands, will provide a total of 35 Axis submarine bases sprinkled strategically around the Mediterranean.

In contrast, the British will have only Gibralter, Malta, Cyprus and a few ports in Egypt, Palestine and Syria.

Hitler Carves Turkey.

THE reported new French hookup with Hitler comes at an especially bad time for the British—which undoubtedly is why the Nazis put the screws on Vichy so vigorously. Under these circumstances the Nazi squeeze on Turkey can be expected to tighten almost momentarily.

In fact, the more the Nazi drive in Russia bogs down with weather, the more likely is Hitler to take the easier, warmer, short cut through Turkey toward the oil fields of the Caucasus—and also toward the British oil fields in Mosul and the Euphrates Valley.

For months the Nazis have been bringing small boats down to the Aegean via the Balkan railroads and the Danube, and are reported almost ready for landing party attacks on coastal points in the Middle East.

Preparing to meet this, Gen. Wavell has been sending a constant stream of reinforcements from India, most of them to Iran, Iraq and Palestine. The British say they are in fairly good shape—though still woefully weak in tanks.

Faced with this crisis, the Turks, as usual, continue to be the enigma of Europe. Diplomatic betting is they will bow to Hitler.

Neutrality Statesmen.

PERSONAL grudges and partisan politics played a big role in the close house vote on the neutrality revision bill, but there also were some sterling examples of courage.

Isolationist pressure groups stopped at nothing in their last-minute efforts to defeat the bill—including even threats of physical violence. One congressman who can vouch for this is able young John Dingell of Michigan, a member of the top-ranking ways and means committee, who received a hand-printed postcard from an anonymous sender, reading:

"McKinley was shot in 1901. The same retribution will come to you and to the present White House occupant if both of you continue the course you have taken on foreign policy. Let this be a warning to you."

Dingell turned the threat over to the FBI, but didn't waver on the rollcall. He and Representative John Lesinski were the only Michigan members who voted "aye."

Later, Dingell told an isolationist colleague: "I would have voted for that bill today if I knew it meant my defeat for re-election tomorrow."

Note—Other house members who underwent terrific isolationist pressure, but stood their ground, were Representatives John Cochran of Missouri, James Barnes of Illinois, Joseph Casey of Massachusetts, Bertrand Gearhart and Jerry Voorhis of California, Jack Houston of Kansas and William Schulte of Indiana.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — Congratulations Dept.: I see where Dick Kuhn's orchestra has become "The biggest little band in America" . . . I don't know whether you know it or not, but it is almost impossible for small bands to gain real recognition. The major net works are afraid of them. They can't take a chance on presenting small outfits. The nation is used to big bands, with accent on brass. The recording companies have to follow the sign of the dollar mark, and that's with the name organizations.

But people from Texas, and people from Maine and Oregon and everywhere have been asking about Dick Kuhn. Against its will, WOR gave him a chance, and now WOR is delighted . . . One day Decca asked him to make some recordings . . . For an unbiased opinion, suppose you play "The Window Washer Man" and make up your own mind. Also listen to "Bill Bailey, Won't You Please Come Home."

I THINK maybe I'd like to tell you a little something about Dick Kuhn. This is his fifth year in the business. He has just five men. It's a small, tightly-knit organization, but no band in America has so well-rounded a repertoire. In his library are 6,000 tunes. He can play 1,500 of these two minutes after request . . . Kuhn feels justly grateful to Bob Christenberry, manager of the Hotel Astor, who has given him a showplace on Broadway for the last four years. This is the Broadway Cocktail Lounge on the Astor's mezz. It is a delightful spot for a number of reasons. For instance, you can talk above the music—it doesn't blast your eardrums . . . Only, you don't want to talk too much after you hear his arrangements. Instead, you'd rather dance, or just sit and listen and think up numbers to ask him to play.

These five musicians really "work at it." They study composition. They study voice. They study arranging, they haunt musical libraries.

Take this as an indication: The second largest library of popular music in the world is the Grosvenor Library in Buffalo. This summer Kuhn thumbed through 67,000 numbers . . . Of these he selected 850. He and the other four members of his orchestra copied them down by hand . . . That's what I mean when I say they can play any song you ask for. It's age doesn't matter . . . If it's available, they have it.

IT IS not too much to say that they receive more requests than any other orchestra. So great has been this vogue that now in the Lounge, guests are given printed lists of several hundred numbers, with full titles and the year they were composed . . . You just indicate what you want, and you get it.

Dick himself lives on Pomander Walk, a small English settlement uptown composed of intimate family houses that face each other, with a walk between, and surrounded by shrubs. He likes to read music as you read novels or newspapers. He likes to whittle. His first interest is his daughter, who is six and who has become quite a pianist. Not long ago he enjoyed the experience of hearing her sing over the air. It was, he said, a thrill, and he has a transcription of the event, which was taken as she sang. It will be something for her to look back on when she is 20.

LIFE'S LIKE THAT

"If daughter is having trouble with her new husband, I'm going to visit them . . . I'm no isolationist!!"

Daily Bible Thought

Then Jesus beholding him loved him, and said unto him, One thing thou lackest: go thy way sell whatever thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven: and come, take up the cross and follow me. —Mark 10:21.

A Farmer's Diary

The Chimney Swift

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

I STOOD near the rear of an old abandoned house, and heard a shuffle high in the chimney. I moved cautiously nearer and listened. Again I heard a similar sound then a faint, unusual voice. It was not mice nor the rude effects of rats—owls fly out at night, bats do the same—by this elimination process, I surmised what I had heard was a chimney swift.

I stood in the doorless entrance to the old house and saw, a foot below the ceiling, a covering that showed where the stovepipe hole had been. Carefully I pulled the stopper out and listened for a sign of life again. The sandstone block I stood upon rocked. I clambered down and added height enough to it so that I could reach my hand up and down inside the chimney.

Finally, on the side next to me, I touched something soft and small enough that I could hold it in my palm. I pulled it from the inside wall, with only a slight struggle, and brought the docile creature out.

Since the room was darkening with approaching dusk, I bore it in my cupped hands beyond the door. As I opened them a little, the evening light glistened on a soft, sable coat. It was the common chimney swift that I have seen about me all my life, but never had actually scrutinized until now.

The little body appeared to rest upon my hand, so short were the small legs it stood upon. The softness of the feathers of neck and breast was wonderful, but the tail feathers were sharp and stiff. It was unafraid, in fact it snuggled its tiny head between my fingers and tried to go to sleep.

From the very day when I held the friendly chimney swift cupped in my hands, I felt an urge to find out more about the unusual habits of that bird. Here is a common household dweller whose beneficial trade is catching insects with its broad open mouth as it flies along—and it flies almost constantly all day. The short legs are never touched to the earth—are not made for that. Like the queen bee, they even mate while on the wing. But when evening comes, the swift's sharp claws cling firmly to the inside chimney wall and, supported by the stiff tail feathers, it sleeps erect with its dainty head toward the light above. (What I had heard was, most likely, the return of the wayfarer to the chimney for a good night's rest.)

During late October these birds migrate. They winter far across the water, in rainy jungles of Brazil. At least scientific explorers have found them there, resting in their distinctive fashion inside hollow trees.

OCTOBER ATTENDANCE IN CITY SCHOOLS AVERAGES 96 PER CENT

Attendance in Mansfield schools in October averaged 96.7 per cent, a slight decrease from the September average, according to reports compiled by principals of the 12 schools

The best attendance was reported by the Western Avenue school which had an average of 98.1 per cent for the month Tied for second place were the Hedges, West Fifth and Woodland schools with an attendance of 97.7 per cent.

Truancy and tardiness cases showed a marked increase last month over the September figures. In October, 547 cases of tardiness and 50 truancy cases were reported as compared with 363 and 37 during the first month of school.

Senior high school with the largest enrollment in the city reported twice as many cases of tardiness and truancy as any other school There were 180 tardiness cases and 21 of truancy at Senior high

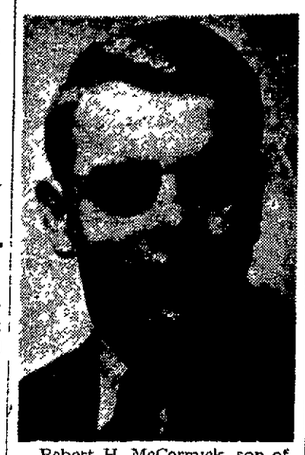
The Brinkerhoff, Prospect, West Fifth, Western Avenue, and Woodland schools had no truants last month The Prospect school had only five tardiness cases fewer than any other city school.

The city's schools had a total enrollment of 6 337 at the end of October, 12 more pupils than at the corresponding time in 1940 The October enrollment showed 32 more than during the first week of school in September.

'GATOR FOUND INLAND

McALESTER, Okla —(U P)—A 6-foot alligator was captured in a flower garden at McAlester. And that's something because McAlester is far inland from the haunts of alligators Local experts theorized the 'gator had been living in an abandoned coal mine partly filled with water.

Accepts Position



Robert H McCormick, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. McCormick, 66 Stewart avenue, has accepted a position with the International Business Machines Corp., in its Columbus office in a sales capacity. McCormick is a graduate of Mansfield Senior High school where he served as president of his graduating class in 1936. He was also president of his junior class while attending Ohio State university. McCormick graduated from Ohio State in June, where he was a member of Romophos and Bucket and Dipper, honorary societies, and Phi Gamma Delta He has just returned from Endicott, N. Y., where he successfully completed a course in advanced accounting technique sponsored by the International Business Machines corp.

TRANSPLANTED BY PLANE

CHEYENNE, Wyo —(U P)—Fish dropped from the sky in Wyoming But it wasn't a miracle, the state game and fish department explains It was simply the tryout of a new method of stocking high and almost inaccesible mountain lakes with fish They were dropped from a low-flying airplane.

'Trip Through Dixie' In Store For Theatergoers

"A trip through Dixie" is in store for the "Owl Show" patrons at the Ohio theater Saturday night, Nov 22, when the management continues the "community sings" that have proved to be a popular feature with patrons since they started two weeks ago.

The quarter-hour "sing" will be based upon the tunes popularizing Dixie and the South, according to William Harwell, theater manager, and will be conducted with "Doc" Houde at the organ.

Houde is now heard daily at the organ at approximately 7 p. m. and each Sunday for a half-hour beginning at 1 p. m.

OFFER VARIETY OF GIFTS FOR WOMEN, GIRLS

(Pictures on Page 11)

By RUTH TITSCHINGER

Women will probably never get over the thrill of receiving gifts and even in these days of defense priorities the Christmas gift buyer has almost an inexhaustible variety of things to choose from.

Mansfield merchants are already showing beautiful and colorful dressing gowns and robes for young and old alike. If you are a college girl or like attractive, live colors you'll want to drop a hint to mother and dad to take a look at the plaid pajama and robe set being shown as gift suggestions. If you like to be comfortable and still look your best for a quiet evening at home you'll surely want a warm, quilted satin or chenille robe.

The thing that a lady is just a little bit hesitant about buying for herself but something that she admires every time she passes through a store is a tiny crystal bottle of her favorite cologne or perfume done up in a gay-colored box. They come in all shapes and sizes and in any scent that happens to suit the disposition and liking of the person for whom it is bought.

There are always attractive make-up kits with assortments of popular creams, powders and rouges that are welcome in any Christmas stocking. Several Mansfield merchants are showing overnight cases in rich natural and colored leathers which contain some of the more famous toilet articles on the market and which will also hold enough clothing for a weekend trip.

Mansfielders who have daughters attending college in distant points are probably looking forward to the holidays because it will be the first time their girls have been home this year. Since popular young collegiates set many style trends you won't want to buy the wrong thing for them for Christmas.

Something that your daughter will appreciate and will certainly be glad to take back to the campus with her is a pretty, pastel colored formal with a full skirt and rhinestones and sequins bordering the skirt. To make her outfit complete get her a wool formal coat made military style with big gold buttons down the front and fitted back.

As a gift with glitter and glamour, give jewelry. Jewelry counters are displaying colorful necklaces, ear-rings and lots and lots of pearls. Even though nearly everything is going "military" women's clothing is getting more feminine, Cablestitch sweaters in original designs as well as loose knit sweaters with long torsos and v-necks are being shown by leading merchants. If you are looking for a sport jacket you won't want to over-look the supply of rich colored suedes being shown.

Burglar Defies Death as He Flees From Policemen.

BOSTON—(INS)—Daring death under the wheels of an express train rather than arrest by policemen for an attempted burglary in an electric supply company plant at Roxbury, a youthful bandit escaped from ten officers.

Patrolman Charles Gibbons of the Roxbury Crossing station heard the burglar alarm and sounded a citizens' alarm that brought nine other officers to the scene.

Just as they seemed to have the burglar surrounded police said, the man leaped a fence and ran across the railroad as an express train bore down on him.

The international agreement regulating the treatment of war prisoners was signed by 47 nations, including Britain, Germany and the United States.

Career of Bingo 'Begging' Dog Ended By Poison

JEFFERSON, Tex.—(INS)—Bingo, the begging dog, is dead. People of several states knew of Bingo's fame gained by his years of begging nickels which he deposited with employes of a drug store.

With his "take," Bingo bought his own food, medicine, dog tag, and more than once, paid a veterinarian to attend him. When a wise guy thought he could fool the dog with a penny, he was fooled in turn. Begging Bingo always spat the coppers into the ditch.

Children rode his back and often he was sick when folks fed him too much ice cream and other delicacies. One Christmas season a man invited Bingo into a cafe and fed him a T-bone Christmas dinner.

Yessir, he was one swell dog and a smart one too. He was his own master and the town's pet.

And then, when his teeth had all but worn smooth with so much nickel begging, Bingo was poisoned.

Woe betide the poisoner, say Jefferson folks, if he is ever found.

23 PUPILS EARN PAY WHILE IN SALES CLASSES

Receive Total of $431 While Working In Stores, Getting Salesmanship Experience.

Twenty-three pupils in the distributive education class at Senior high school are earning a part of their school expenses as they study salesmanship.

Under the supervision of John C. Stout, instructor at the high school, 17 girls and five boys earned a total of $431.83 at jobs in 15 Mansfield business firms during October.

That's an average of more than $18 per pupil for the month. To earn that much the pupils worked an average of 21 hours a week, on Saturdays and in their spare time when they could be away from classes. Twenty-five pupils were enrolled in the salesmanship classes last month.

Working in stores and bakeries during their spare time brings the pupils in contact with the public and forces them to meet and solve the problems that they will face when they have finished school and find full-time jobs.

Sixteen of the 23 working pupils had jobs in department and variety stores. Two girls worked in dairy stores, while the remaining five pupils were employed part-time in stores selling drugs, shoes, clothing, and baked goods.

In addition to their required courses at school, the 25 pupils enrolled in the special classes receive instruction in salesmanship and retail selling.

"This first effort in distributive education work has been very satisfactory so far, and definite progress should be made throughout the year in the training of these young people in selling," Supt. of Schools W. L. Miller said.

The plan is similar to that used for several years in colleges and universities which operate under the cooperative education system, giving students an opportunity to attend classes for specific periods and then work at jobs that interest them.

About 14 per cent of all persons gainfully employed in the United States before advent of the defense program were women.

WILL HEAD CLUB AT NEW LONDON

NEW LONDON—Nellie Harris has been named president of the Country club, local farm women's organization. During her year's term of office she will be assisted by Helen Collingwood, secretary-treasurer, and Irene Dunlap, reporter.

Bernice Knapp was hostess at the November meeting. Following the customary business session names were drawn for a Christmas gift exchange, to be held Dec. 11, with Hazel Leech as hostess.

The United States has 30 cities of more than 300,000 population.

PILE OF WORKER CLAIMS FACING NEW CHAIRMAN

New Flood of Compensation Demands Greet Worstell In New Post.

By REED D. SMITH

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Appointment of a permanent head of the state industrial commission's medical section last week came during a record flood of workmen's compensation claims against a backlog of unsettled accounts estimated by one commissioner at "thousands."

The commission by a 2-to-1 vote Thursday named Dr. H. Paul Worstell, 42-year-old Columbus physician, to head the section and Chairman Will T. Blake said the selection would be "very beneficial for department operations."

Dr. Worstell had been under consideration for the $5,000-a-year appointment since he became acting head of the section following the March 31 resignation of Dr. Sidney McCurdy during a controversy with the commission over what he termed a policy of too liberal claim allowances. Dr. Worstell, McCurdy's assistant, has been with the commission since 1936.

His appointment, however, hung fire until Gov. John W. Bricker called for action, reportedly blocked by a Republican commissioner.

Clarence J. Knisley, former state treasurer and lone Democratic commissioner, said the governor had telephoned his office to inquire into Knisley's reasons for opposing Dr. Worstell's appointment. Chairman Blake confirmed the governor's personal interest in the action, approved by Blake and James A. White of the commission, both Republicans.

Knisley said he understood the governor also had talked with White.

Knisley, in a minority statement, said he felt the commission should employ a full-time physician-administrator for as much as $10,000 yearly to fill "the most important position in the industrial commission."

"The supervisor not only passes on the questions arising on disability of the claimant but must also supervise payment of all medical and hospital bills and adopt a policy for the speedy examination of injured workmen," Knisley said.

Knisley added he had full confidence in Dr. Worstell's ability as an orthopedic specialist but felt that "the position of supervisor should be a full-time job . . ., and that private practice should be discontinued."

Knisley estimated that October claims would total 30,000, exceeding the record 27,031 filed the previous month. September claims were 39.8 per cent above the September, 1940, total. Claims for the first nine months this year numbered 207,838, a 9.8 per cent increase over the corresponding period for the previous record year of 1929.

Nor was the peak in sight. Commission employes forecast a further rise because of accidents occasioned by increasing employment in defense-busy industries, hiring of unskilled workers and the demand for additional production.

The Soviet naval base at Kronstadt, 20 miles off Leningrad, has three harbor basins, one of them capable of holding 1,000 merchant ships.

CITY'S POLICE READY TO TAKE UP NEW STUDIES

They'll Get Instructions In Sabotage, Espionage, Air Raid Duties Soon.

Mansfield police are getting ready to go back to school but they'll study subjects more vital than reading, writing and arithmetic.

Sabotage, espionage, air raid duties, black-out enforcements, convoy duty, gas decontamination, fire-watching and many other wartime duties will provide their curriculum.

Police Chief Meade K. Bates, who attended a two-day session for law enforcement heads held by the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Cleveland, plans to start his own school for his patrolmen within the next week.

Bates had intended to start the school sessions earlier and to hold them on Friday nights but the need for additional police to handle football crowds prevented this.

The first class meeting will be held either Monday or Tuesday evening in the municipal courtroom. Bates will illustrate his lectures with "chalk-talks," slides, and other equipment supplied by FBI headquarters.

In addition to helping the local police fit in with a Mansfield area civilian defense set-up, Bates hopes that the instruction will enable them to better understand the lessons which will be given them in a six-day session of a district FBI conference here in April.

In addition to regular wartime duties, Mansfield police will learn the best methods for guarding protected places and areas, guarding grounded enemy aircraft, internal security investigations, evacuation problems, looting problems, wartime traffic and police communication problems.

Here's Latest Version of An Old-Time Story.

LOS ANGELES—(INS)—Patrolmen Osborne Rutherford and William McGraw of the Forest Patrol were making their tortuous way through Trial Canyon in Angeles National Forest when off in the distance they heard a tormented cry:

"Help!"

Then there were sounds of a scuffle.

For an hour they beat their way through the brush, seeking a quarry.

Then suddenly in a clearing they came on a deer hunter. He was very relaxed. He was sitting with a portable radio listening to a melodrama.

LEORA HULL TO WED KENNETH KNACKSTEDT

Couple Will Be United at First Presbyterian Church This Afternoon at 4 O'Clock; Reception for 100 Guests to Follow Wedding.

IN AN OPEN church wedding at 4 o'clock this afternoon, Miss Leora Hull, 247 East Second street, will become the bride of Kenneth W. Knackstedt, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Knackstedt, 229 East Arch street. Miss Hull is the daughter of Mrs. Annette Purdy of Mt. Vernon. Rev. David N. Roller, pastor, will perform the marriage service before the altar of the First Presbyterian church. Lighted tapers in two seven-branch candelabra will furnish illumination.

Preceding the ceremony a 15-minute program of nuptial music will be presented by Mrs. Dean Eckert, organist, and George Knackstedt, vocalist, brother of the bridegroom. Selections by Mrs. Knackstedt will be "I Love Thee," by Grieg, and "Oh Perfect Love." Mrs. Eckert will play Wagner's "Wedding March" from "Lohengrin" as the bridal party approaches the altar, and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" will be used for the recessional.

A two-piece blue-gray suit with eggshell satin blouse and navy blue accessories will be worn by the bride. Her shoulder corsage will be of pink and yellow roses and gardenias. Maid of honor for her sister will be Miss Beatrice Purdy, of Mt. Vernon, who has chosen a wine colored suit and matching accessories. She will have a corsage of yellow roses. Both Mrs. Purdy and Mrs. Knackstedt, mothers of the couple, will be attired in black ensembles and will have as shoulder sorsages clusters of red and white carnations.

Richard Boyd, of Mansfield, will serve as best man for Mr. Knackstedt.

Following the wedding a reception will be held for approximately 100 guests at the Sons of Herman hall, corner of Orange and Central avenues. Refreshments will be served from a long table centered with a three-tiered wedding cake decorated with a miniature bridal couple.

The bride was graduated from Mt. Vernon High school and has been employed at the Ideal Electric Manufacturing company. Mr. Knackstedt attended Mansfield high school and is an employe of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company. The newlyweds will reside, for the time being, at 229 East Arch street.

Guild Members Hold Meeting At Heiser Home

Mrs. Willard Heiser, 738 West Fourth street was hostess to members of the Ella Montgomery Missionary guild of the East Mansfield United Presbyterian church recently. Plans were made to begin work on a welfare project for the holiday season. Devotions were led by Mrs. Donald Hart.

Mrs. Charles Metcalf reviewed part of the study book, "God's Raven." Plans were completed for presentation of the play, "The Welcome Guest," which will be given by the guild on Nov. 30 at 7:30 p. m. at the church. A gift exchange will be held at the meeting to be held on Dec. 16 at the home of Mrs. William Moritz, Lucas road. Luncheon was served at small tables decorated with Thanksgiving appointments. Mrs. Martha Inscore assisted the hostess during the meeting.

Unusual Displays In Garden Center For Thanksgiving

Appropriate and attractive is the Thanksgiving display in the Garden Center at the Public Library. So well liked was Mrs. Harvey Lanehart's table arrangement last year, that she was requested to use the same exhibit this season. She has made a miniature cornfield, using sand for soil, small gourds for pumpkins, Brussels sprouts for cabbage and she has created several little corn shocks. Surrounding the "field," which is the centerpiece for a large table, is a rail fence in miniature. To add to the effectiveness of the scene, there are toy turkeys, chickens, a cat and some kittens.

Mrs. H. J. Paulsen also has contributed an unusual arrangement of a flower and fruit exhibit. An opened artichoke represents a large flower. Dish gardens containing a variety of plants are on display also. Artistic arrangements of ivy and cactus plants are featured on glass shelves in the semi-circular north and west windows of the Garden Center.

During this month members of the Linnaeus Garden club are in charge of the floral exhibits. Committee for Thanksgiving week is comprised of Mrs. Paulsen, Mrs. Lanehart, Mrs. W. F. Fisher and Mrs. H. H. Clingan.

Gourds will be exhibited on Nov. 25 and 27 with Mrs. Charles Chew, Mrs. S. E. Taylor, Mrs. Ray Hammer and Mrs. E. D. Wallington in charge.

Couple To Entertain With Holiday Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Walbridge Parsons, 58 Parkwood boulevard, will entertain this noon at a Thanksgiving dinner for 14 members of their family. The dinner will be served at the Mansfield-Leland hotel. Present from out-of-town will be Prof. and Mrs. James C. McCullough, of Oberlin, their son, Uel Parsons McCullough, of Miami Beach, Fla., and Mrs. Anna Ruth of Columbus. Those from Mansfield will be Mrs. Mary B. Gilbert and sons, Bentley and Henry Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Parsons, daughter Ann and son Richard, and Edward F. Parsons.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Summers are celebrating their 40th wedding anniversary today with a dinner for their children at their home on R. D. No. 3.

Christmas Gifts That Will Be Cherished By Mother, Sister, Daughter

Everyone, young and old alike, gets a thrill out of Christmas, probably the most "prepared for" holiday in the year. But, have you ever noticed the gleam in mother's, sister's, or daughter's eyes when she opened a package and found it was just the thing she wanted most? If you're having a hard time trying to decide what to buy, clothing is always good. In the above pictures are gifts which were suggested by a group of Mansfield merchants. In photo No. 1 Miss Eleanor Austin poses in a cotton quilted robe which is both attractive and comfortable. Jackets, in striking plaids and soft pastels, are always good as you'll see in the second photo in which Miss Martha Pfaff is showing two selections to Miss Maxine Eyster. Mrs. Grace Leister poses in pictures 3 and 4 in a hostess gown for a quiet evening at home and an evening wrap you'll want for dinner parties and dances. If you're buying for a collegiate why not look at formals and evening coats. Picture No. 5 shows Miss Austin in a pink net gown bordered with gold under a pale blue wool fitted coat trimmed with a darker blue velvet. If you want to buy accessories for a formal try to match them. In photo No. 6 is a blue jersey formal with accessories in silver. To complete your outfit don't forget cologne and an evening bag. Miss Frances Brown is showing a customer a new Tyrolean style sweater that every young girl will love for sports and classroom and one that will go with a dark skirt for dress wear in photo No. 7. Those interested in the above gift suggestions can obtain information as to where they can be purchased by phoning The News-Journal at 4251-6.

MIRIAM HENDRICKSON TO WED THIS MORNING

Rev. Grover E. Swoyer to Officiate at Quiet Ceremony for Miss Hendrickson and Joseph Stehle At First Lutheran Church Today.

MISS MIRIAM M. HENDRICKSON, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hendrickson, R. D. 3, will become the bride of Joseph Stehle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Stehle, 257 Orange street, this morning in a quiet ceremony to be read at the First Lutheran church. Rev. Grover E. Swoyer will officiate at the single ring service at 10:30 a. m., before members of the immediate families and a few close friends and relatives of the couple.

For her wedding Miss Hendrickson will wear a royal blue velvet street length tailored frock with gold accessories. Her shoulder corsage will be of pale pink roses and gardenias. Miss Miriam Yuncker will be the bride's only attendant. She will wear a light blue velvet frock with matching accessories and a shoulder corsage of deep red roses and gardenias. Roy Hendrickson, brother of the bride, will be the best man.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception will be held for 23 friends and relatives at the home of the bridegroom's parents. Luncheon will be served from a long table decorated with fall flowers and centered with a three tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bridal couple.

The couple will leave this evening for a short wedding trip through New York state. For traveling, the bride will wear a navy blue frock with matching accessories. Miss Hendrickson attended Springfield township high school. Mr. Stehle is a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school and is employed at the Tappan Stove company. Upon their return they will reside temporarily with the bride's parents.

Kindergarten Has Holiday Party

Thanksgiving party yesterday afternoon closed the project of the past few weeks for children attending Ruth Robbins' private kindergarten on Vennum avenue. Project included art work, dramatization and an excursion. Last week the youngsters visited a turkey farm and watched the capture of a gobbler. When its tail feathers were plucked, one was given to each boy and girl as a souvenir.

For the party, the children dressed as pilgrims. Appropriate refreshments were served and each child gave a reason to be thankful. The group is providing a basket of food for a needy family's Thanksgiving dinner. With the conclusion of the party, the annual holiday vacation for kindergarten pupils began.

REVIEWS BOOK.

When members of the Notre Dame Study club met recently at the home of Mrs. J. Marion O'Hara on Sloan avenue, they answered roll call with current events. Review of the book, "Leo the Thirteenth," by Rene Fulop-Miller, was presented by Mrs. Frank Harpster. Lunch was served by Mrs. O'Hara. Plans for the Christmas party, to be held Dec. 16, are being made by Mrs. Harpster, Mrs. John O'Donnell and Mrs. Paul Hensler.

Party for Boys In Camp Planned At Club Meeting

The Home Service club, whose motto is "Keep the Boys Happy" held a meeting recently at the American Legion home. During the business session plans were made to hold a benefit card party on Dec. 1 at 8 p. m. at the Legion home. Proceeds from the party will be used for Christmas gifts for Mansfielders who are in camp.

Officers of the club are Mrs. Blanche Holmes, president; Miss Mary Harfman, vice president; Miss Genevieve E. Bu[illegible]nski, recording secretary; Mrs. Freeda Gorby, corresponding secretary; Mrs. C. C. Minard, treasurer, and Mrs. Alice Jenkins, financial secretary. Miss Patricia Dropsey and Miss Rose Vetrano will serve as hostesses for the Christmas party to be given for the selectees during the Christmas holidays.

Soroptimist Club Meets for Dinner

Dinner was served at the Friendly House recently to members of the Soroptimist club. Mrs. Russell Gimbel was hostess. Girls in the senior cooking class at Friendly House, with Miss Marian Marshall in charge, served the dinner. The table was beautifully decorated in keeping with the Thanksgiving season with a centerpiece of fruit. Favors were miniature shocks of wheat.

Following the dinner a business session was conducted by the vice president, Miss Mabel Selfe. Mrs. Zora Weimer gave a report of the convention that was held recently in Chicago. During the evening members sewed dresser scarves which will be presented to the tuberculosis sanitarium. Guest for the evening was Miss Teresa Peiffer.

Plans for charity work to be done during the Christmas season were discussed. Next will be a luncheon-meeting on Dec. 9.

WEDDING AT ST. PETER'S TO UNITE LOCAL COUPLE

Miss Della Jane Young to Become Bride of Kenneth Gremling In Church Ceremony at 9:30 This Morning; Couple to Live In Canton.

WHEN she becomes the bride of Kenneth F. Gremling in St. Peter's Catholic church at 9:30 o'clock this morning, Miss Della Jane Young will be attired in a white satin wedding gown fashioned with the new long torso waistline and very full skirt. The neckline is V-shaped and the leg-o-mutton sleeves have small points at the wrists. From a tiara, her illusion veil cascades to fingertip length. Bridal bouquet will be of white and a very delicate shade of pink roses.

Bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Young, 136 Dawson avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Gremling, 163 South Mulberry street, are parents of the bridegroom.

Rt. Rev. Msgr. R. C. Goebel will read the marriage service before the altar which will be decorated with bouquets of white chrysanthemums and palms. Preceding the ceremony nuptial music is to be played by Raymond Baum, organist. Mr. Young will give his daughter in marriage.

Maid of honor for Miss Young is Miss Anna Mae Berges, a close friend. A floor-length gown of powder blue satin made with a square neckline, short puffed sleeves and full skirt will be worn by Miss Berges. Roses in a deep pink shade will form her bouquet. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Young has chosen a teal blue dress and black accessories. She will have shoulder corsage of pink roses and carnations. Mrs. Gremling, mother of the bridegroom, will wear a green silk dress with black accessories. Talisman roses and yellow chrysanthemums formed her shoulder corsage.

Robert Gremling will serve as best man for his brother.

After the ceremony, open house will be held during the remainder of the day at the home of the bride's parents. At 1 p. m., dinner will be served to members of the two families and out-of-town guests. A short wedding trip is being planned by the couple. For traveling, the bride will don a wine colored velvet dress. Her accessories will be in RAF blue and she will have a shoulder corsage of white roses that formed part of her wedding bouquet. Mr. and Mrs. Gremling will reside in Canton after Nov. 23. Both the bride and bridegroom were graduated from St. Peter's high school. She has been employed at the Neisner store. Mr. Gremling is with the Union Metal company in Canton.

Pitfalls of Love

(A sequel to Marriage Meddlers)
By ADELE GARRISON

To my surprise Harry Underwood obeyed my injunction not to speak, although I guessed that he was heeding the nurse's previous admonition more than he was mine. He closed his eyes, quickly in answer to my suggestion, then opened them again, and their expression gave me an insistent message.

"Yes, I know," I told him. "You told them you'd be at an upstairs window when they come, and would sound that signaling horn. If Miss Whitlock doesn't need me here, I'll go upstairs now and watch for them."

"I don't need you here just now," the nurse said, "but I shall need the men as soon as they get here. I want to improvise a stretcher."

"You won't need to," I told her. "If Father sends the armored car, which he no doubt will do, there is a folding stretcher tucked away in its trunk."

Madge Tells Her Plans.

"Fine!" she commented. "Now Mr. Underwood, sip this. Mrs. Graham will attend to everything."

But I knew he was waiting for one more assurance, and before I turned toward the stairs I gave it to him.

"No doubt Father will be with the men," I said. "I shall lose no time in telling him about the probable look-out in a car on the street, and also about the men here in the basement, then I shall bring him down here immediately."

His eyes mirrored satisfaction at my promise, and I hurried up to the living room, whose windows commanded the street outside.

The curtains were drawn — Harry had attended to that in his tour of the house—and I did not raise them at first. I took my stand at the right of one, lifted the edge of the curtain so that I could peer around it, and looked up the street.

Sees the Lookout Car.

There was no car in sight, nor even a pedestrian. I carefully put back that side of the curtain, went around to the other side of the window and gingerly lifted the curtain on that side.

My pulses began to pound as I saw a big car, which my knowledge of my father's conveyances, told me was armored. I guessed that its motor was running, although I could hear nothing.

Nor could I see any occupant of the car at first. I surmised that the driver was slumped down behind the wheel, making himself as inconspicuous as possible. But in another second I saw a face appear at the rear window for an instant's scrutiny of the street, then disappear again.

There were two men in the car, then, I concluded, and I was virtually sure that the car belonged to the bandits. But how long the lookouts would wait before investigating the non-appearance of their comrades inside, I had no idea, but I tried hard to fight down panic at the thought that they might go to the basement window before my father's men should arrive.

The outline of their plot was fairly clear to me. They had meant to make their plotted abduction of Lillian appear to any curious onlookers like an ordinary car trip.

They would not risk carrying Lillian bodily from the house and forcing her into the car, but counted on her accompanying them with apparent willingness, after she had listened to divers threats concerning what would happen to Marion if she did not come with them.

Help Arrives In Time.

It seemed hours that I waited with tensed muscles for the man in the car to emerge from it. I knew, of course, what I must do —race for the basement, take a position commanding the basement window, but where I could not be seen through it, and be ready for whatever action seemed best.

Then, just as I saw the rear door of the big car open cautiously, around the corner swept two big cars, my father's armored one and another, and drew up in front of the house. Then a horn sounded a signal from one of them and, regardless of the gangsters, I threw up the window, although I did have sense enough to keep out of range of possible shots.

"Careful!" I warned as the door of the armored car opened and my father put his foot on the running board. "Keep back! The men inside are safely locked up, but there are two lookouts in that car. They may shoot."

"Not this trip, they won't," my father said, but I saw with relief that he was back in the car. Then he gave a low-toned direction to the driver, and the big armored car swung around and backed across the sidewalk, just at the right of the entrance door, making a perfect screen for anyone wishing to enter.

"Open the door quickly, darling!" my father commanded.

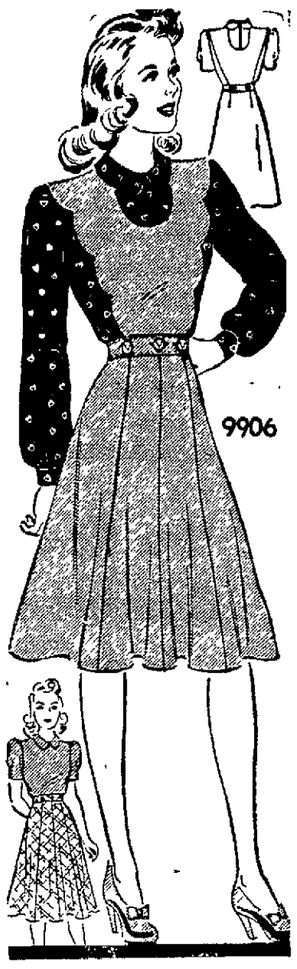
High Style Fashions, Fancy Work



Demanded by the Younger Set —a jumper ensemble that is definitely "different!" Pattern 9906 is Marian Martin's answer, with its detachable bib that buttons on to the skirt, front and back. The edge may be prettily scalloped, or straight, and shows up well against the simple blouse. Why not make the blouse of flowered challis—so smart this year—and take your choice of long or short sleeves? The skirt may also be worn with other shirtwaists and sweaters . . . it is easy to make and the two panels in front give it just enough flare. You'll find explicit directions in the Sew Chart. An outfit like this is a whole wardrobe in itself for a fashion-wise miss!

"The Authority on Authorities"

SHOW WHAT YOU WANT

YOUR SIGNALING with a high discard, during the play of a hand by an opponent, does not necessarily indicate possession of length in your suit, when you are competing against No Trumps, nor does it necessarily signify shortage and ability to ruff during suit play. Neither does it proclaim the possession of high cards in that suit. What it does, in a nutshell, is to say merely that you want that suit led, when your partner gets a chance to lead it, except in two unusual cases. One of these is when it is obvious he will switch to another suit and you are giving a suit preference signal regarding other suits. The other is when a lot of discarding by your side is in prospect and you are trying to tell him which suit you will hold.

Pretty bad bidding, that, when 4-Hearts figured to be the sound, unbeatable contract, but West was a hand-hog and wanted to play it. He was lucky he didn't get set. North led the diamond 3 to the Q. K. and A. West, realizing he would be wrecked if the defenders got into the lead again and led diamonds, and reckoning that he couldn't count on both major suit finesses working, decided on a bold scheme to make them think he didn't fear diamonds.

Instead of going to dummy with the club A and trying to shut out, the heart K by leading the suit toward his A, he did just the reverse. He laid down the heart A, then led the 3, which North won with the K. North was all ready to repeat hish diamond suit, when he noticed South discard the spade 10 on that second heart trick. After plenty of study, North decided he had better observe the signal, so led the spade 3 to the K and A. West thereupon ran game with a total of thre etricks in spades, four in hearts and his two minor aces.

If South, on that second heart trick, had not been so anxious to show he had quite a spade suit, and had properly signaled with a low spade, the 4, in the hope that North would repeat the diamonds, North would have done so. South's 10 would have captured the 2, his 9 would have been overtaken by North's J, and the 5 and 4 would have defeated the contract.

U. S. Tells France Re-Study of Relations Needed, Hints Rupture.

Italian Libya, next door to France's North African colonies. German possession of those colonies—particularly Tunisia—would improve the strategic position of the Axis forces in Libya, by furnishing a shorter, more easily protected supply line than the present badly- harried sea routes to Europe.

American officials made no secret of their apprehension that Vichy's reported ousting of General Maxime Weygand, France's proconsul for North Africa, might prove an ominous development in the increasing Nazi pressure to convert Vichy into an active partner of the Reich.

As the supreme authority in Morocco, Algiers and Tunisia, Weygand has been one of the few Vichy officials to cooperate with the United States in seeking to keep control of those colonies in French hands.

While loyal to Marshal Petain, Weygand has steadfastly opposed any collaboration with the Nazis which went beyond the terms of the armistice and pledged that he would not permit the Germans to take over North Africa.

Under an arrangement with General Weygand the United States re-established trade with the African colonies, shipping foodstuffs and articles required for civilian life in return for raw materials for national defense production here.

Two of the vessels which have been making regular voyages sailed a week ago, but officials said they would be the last until the French situation has been clarified.

The underlying reasons for Weygand's reported removal, it was said in informed quarters, were unquestionably his active opposition to pro-Hitler elements in the Vichy government, his refusal to permit the North African colonies to become a spring board for Nazi military moves in the Mediterranean, and his cooperative attitude toward the United States.

The United States, it was stated, would withhold decisive action concerning the renewed signs of closer Franco-German collaboration—pending a complete report, expected today, from Admiral William D. Leahy, the American ambassador.

5 Killed By Fire, Fumes, Cattle Die In Tunnel Tragedy

clouds of smoke and fumes quickly filled the tunnel.

These five trainmen stumbled and crawled 2500 feet to the outside: Conductor Harry H. Hartley, Brakemen V. L. Rippey, O. B. Castle and E. J. Byrne, all of Los Angeles, and Fireman Boyd Bonner of Bakersfield, Cal.

Engineer John Dunne and Fireman S. E. Snodgrass of Los Angeles tried in vain to move the train. Failing, they yet took time to shut off the oil valve between the huge tender and the engine to prevent spread of the flames. The train carried oil and merchandise worth hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Their bodies were found with their engine.

Brakeman G. C. Baker of Los Angeles made his way to the broken coupling and tried to repair it and thus release the brakes.

His body was found beside the tracks.

Also asphyxiated were Bruce D. Clark, sr., and John George Bureaw of Los Angeles, who had sought safety in a refrigerator car. Southern Pacific officials said they were stowaways.

Three hundred Hereford steers, terrified by the fumes, pawed, locked horns and fought in their cars until they, too, suffocated.

Smoke and gas fumes were so thick it was nearly 12 hours before searchers could reach the stalled train.

Ancient Mayans of Central and South America used to decorate their teeth.

NOBODY'S SURE WHERE IT BEGAN

But Some Say Newsman Coined Term 'Captive' Mine.

PITTSBURGH—(AP)—Origin of the term "captive" mine, meaning in coal field vernacular the mines operated by steel companies which use the mines' entire output, is obscure.

Use of the name goes back to the day about 30 years ago when the steel companies began integrating their processes to include supplies of raw materials. It distinguished the pits from the so-called commercial mines, whose production is sold on the open market.

Authorship of the term is unknown but some say it was coined by a Connellsville, Pa., newspaperman.

GEN. JOHNSON:

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON—This and my past few columns have been written from the Walter Reed general hospital in Washington instead of from my own office in the same city. I didn't mention it because I did not want to distress some of my family and friends to whom the word "hospital" has the same kind of horrid connotation as receiving an unexpected telegram.

Johnson

I should have known better, because I have tried the same thing before with similar results. As before, some of my columnist and radio commentator colleagues went on the air with the "highly confidential" information that I was in a hospital "dangerously ill." The result was not a little cruel, and I received so many apprehensive letters and telegrams that it seems better to state the facts.

Whenever I can, I come to this hospital for a complete test of all vital functions to see how badly I have slipped. This time I let it go for an unusually long time, and there was more to be attended to than I expected, but if I am dangerously ill, it is more than the very efficient corps of surgeons and I, myself, know.

Exactly the same thing has happened at least three times over the years. Before, I was more in the news on account of NRA and WPA. This time, being just a newspaper man, I didn't think this easy exaggeration would be repeated.

I have no fear of not being able to run my column from here, because my office and staff are still working, collecting dope—and doing a little better than when I am too close at hand pestering them.

Furthermore, on one former occasion of exactly the same kind, I settled the 1933 bituminous coal strike right from this same bedroom and it was, in some ways, more dangerous and difficult than the present, very unfortunate strike in the captive mines. Maybe the contestants in this scrap would be more tenderly sympathetic toward each other if they had to deal with a man in bed.

But I never dreamed of one great advantage of the announcement of my "dangerous illness." I have had more dope brought to me by anxious and sympathetic friends than I could have gotten for myself in a month of "legging." Most everybody of my official acquaintance seems to want to help me write my column.

This confinement has its other advantages. Not far down the hall is my old friend and commander since boyhood, General John J. Pershing. His mind is as alert as ever, and his body, at 80, only slightly less so. It is a rich experience, that I never expected, to be able to fight again with him in memory old wars, military and otherwise, in so gentle and unhurried an atmosphere.

This hospital is one of the greatest institutions of its kind in the world. Fully equipped for research and named for the co-discoverer of the cause of yellow fever, Walter Reed, it is now changing into a great training school for top flight medical officers for a new and enlarged army. For years the chiefs of its surgical and medical services have been among the greatest surgeons and internists the medical profession has produced.

I would rather be back in my office, but my stay here will not be long, and it certainly has its compensations in more ways than one.

HOOVER LASHES PROPAGANDA FOR ENTRY INTO WAR

Says Attempt Being Made To Condition U. S. For Overseas Fight.

CHICAGO, Ill.—(AP)—Former President Hoover urges calling a halt to what he calls an attempt to condition American minds artificially for war.

In a broadcast address made before the Union League club last night, the former chief executive asserted propaganda agencies already were voicing "preliminary demands" for the sending of American land forces into the European maelstrom.

He said the "preliminary demand" for overseas forces "is likely to be for an expeditionary force to Persia or Egypt." He added:

"Already the propaganda agencies are blurting it out. Already press dispatches from abroad indicate it. Already officials are making the same sort of statements that anteceded our going into naval action."

He contended such action would not only be a "futile waste of American life," but would also endanger freedom in the United States itself.

Mr. Hoover described the European war as a "military stalemate" and asserted what effect an American expeditionary force would have on the outcome was the primary question before the American people.

"We can dismiss at once," he said, "the bogie that Hitler can invade the western hemisphere against the modern development of the airplane and our navy either now or ten years hence * * *

"But could the United States break this military stalemate in Europe by adding our military power to that of the British? We can now observe that Russia could not overcome the German army even with her 10,000,000 men, 20,000 tanks, 20,000 planes fighting on her own soil behind her own fortifications with her transportation wholly over land and on inside lines."

To send an army from America to the European continent, he declared "we would have to land overpowering forces all at once. * * * It would take more than five years to build the shipping to transport them. No military expert believes we could land such an army in Europe even if we got overseas. * * *

COST RISES

Wage Earners Pay 1.2 Per Cent More To Live.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The cost of living for wage earners and low salaried persons in large cities increased 1.2 per cent from mid-September to mid-October, the labor department reported today. This makes the total rise of 8.1 per cent since March.

The index of the cost of goods purchased by this group was shown to be 109.4 on Oct. 15 compared with an average of 100 for 1935-39.

Retail food prices, the department said, increased somewhat more moderately between mid-September and mid-October than during other recent months, with an advance of 0.8 per cent.

Rain Ushers In Holiday, Colder Weather on Way

Showers and possible thunderstorms were on Mansfield's Thanksgiving menu today, and the weatherman said there will be a return of overcoat weather by tonight.

Rain which began falling before dawn today ended a five-day period of clear skies and above normal temperatures. The rain was expected to continue through this afternoon and make the field slippery for the high school football game between the Mansfield Tygers and Fremont at Stadium Field.

Despite the rain, scores of Richland county hunters were expected to take advantage of the holiday to go into the woods and fields for rabbits and pheasants.

CHARGES EXCESS ARMS SPENDING

Senator Says Congress Asked To Appropriate Far More Than Amount Needed.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON.—Senator Adams (D., Col.) asserted today that congress was being asked to appropriate for war supplies "far in excess of the needs for American defense."

He also declared to reporters that the military production program was being conducted with "incalculable waste."

Adams' assertion was prompted by President Roosevelt's request, now under consideration by a house committee, for $7,082,419,000 additional defense funds, of which $6,687,000,000 would go to the army.

Piling this on top of approximately $58,500,000,000 already appropriated or authorized by congress for defense, Adams said, made it apparent that no amount of economy in non-defense expenditures could relieve the financial strain materially.

Adams argued that this country has a "colossal" military establishment which should be large enough to protect its interests. There was no danger, he contended, of attack from without, so the question resolved itself into how much money should be made available by congress for the production of export items.

The Colorado senator is chairman of a senate appropriations subcommittee which will consider the $7,082,419,000 measure if it is approved by the house.

Single Motorist Appears In Court, Pays $10 Fine.

Although six motorists were scheduled to be arraigned in municipal court yesterday on speeding charges, so many of them have waived arraignment and paid their fines in advance that Francis J. Drake, Mansfield R. D. 5, was the only person to face Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch. He was fined $10 and costs when he pleaded guilty to a police charge that he had been driving 48 miles an hour on North Main street.

WORKMAN HURT

Man, 74, Falls 18 Feet Off Scaffold; In Critical Condition.

BUCYRUS—Injured when he fell 18 feet from a scaffolding while working on the Virgil Keller farm near Nevada Wednesday, George Wilson, 75, remains in a critical condition in City hospital. He was in an unconscious condition when removed to the hospital and has failed to regain consciousness. Extent of his injuries has not been determined.

SPECIAL SERVICE

BUCYRUS — Union services in four Bucyrus churches Wednesday night marked the Thanksgiving season. A special Thanksgiving high mass was held at Holy Trinity Catholic church at 9 a. m. Friday, and at 10 a. m., a Thanksgiving service was held in First Church of Christ, Scientist.

RED CROSS CHALKS UP 4,593 MEMBERS IN FIRST TEN DAYS

Forging ahead in a drive for 22,000 members, the largest in the history of the chapter, Richland county chapter of the Red Cross rounded out the first 10 days of the 1941 Roll Call with 4,593 members, according to late reports yesterday when Roll Call headquarters closed for the Thanksgiving holiday.

Striving to double the quota of 10,000 members set for last year the 650 county Roll Call workers had more than doubled the membership figure for the corresponding figure in 1940 when 2,110 members were obtained the first 10 days of the drive.

Cash contributions mounted yesterday to $6,013.69 as more industries, offices and organizations enlisted 100 per cent and individual workers turned in the results of house to house solicitation. The contributions were almost double last year's figure of $3,120.30.

Although the 1941 membership has not yet attained the half-way mark and the drive has only nine days in which to go, L. W. Birch, county Roll Call chairman, expressed confidence that the quota, or close to it, would be met, by Nov. 30.

The Junior Red Cross membership campaign that is being conducted jointly with the county Roll Call for the first time this year had enrolled 1,886 members today as six more schools reported 700 new members in a 100 per cent membership. New schools enrolling were Country Day school, Bushnell and Hedges in the city, and Terman, Pavonia upper grades and Lucas grade and high school in the county.

Approximately 11,000 students are expected to enroll in the organizations simply by pledging a service to the organization and receiving a Red Cross button in return.

Firms and organizations reporting 100 per cent membership include: West Fifth street school staff, W. E. Jones Piano and Furniture house, Dr. W. A. Smith's office, Russell L. Coleman's garage, Dr. C. R. Keller and Dr. R. C. Nigh office, Bushnell school staff, Galbraith, Nichols and O'Brien law office, Dr. W. H. Wolfard's office, Louis A. Lamoreux's office, Charles W. Conklin's office, Henkel and Gongwer law office.

Richman Brothers company, Household Finance corporation, General Finance corporation, Fashion Lane Clothiers, Crawford Finance company, Avon shop, Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, Charles Schroer company, Golden-Russell, Inc., Newman school staff, Pepsi-Cola Bottling company, Perfection Bed Spring company, Mansfield Brass Foundry.

Goetz Hardware company, Buchan Auto Supply company, Carpenter school staff, Dr. W. D. Abrams' office, Dr. H. B. Peck's office, Dr. G. L. Evans office, Farmers Savings and Trust company, State Liquor store, South Park street; Brinkerhoff school staff, Mansfield Tent and Awning company, Richland Printing company.

Mike's garage, Midway Nite club, Selective Service Board No. 2, the R. B. Maxwell company, Bowman street school staff, Wolverine Automobile Insurance company, Thomas J. McDermott's office, Dr. F. A. Hoffman's office, Dr. O. B. Hohendorf's office.

Laff-a-Day

"I always do this as soon as I get back from my vacation. I can tell just what George did while I was gone!"

Tom Dorsey, 168 Blanche street, member of a large family, has found that a round robin letter is the best way for him to keep up with the news of his brothers and sisters, and he suggests that the same plan might be all right for families with sons and brothers in the army. Members of the Dorsey family live in scattered parts of the country, so one of them will start a letter, send it to another who adds his comments, and it will make the circuit, finally going back to the member who started it. By that time it conit will make the circuit, finally Dorsey believes the plan would please soldiers who won't be able to get home for the holidays.

Future-man may collect zippers a few eons hence, but the modern thing to do is to collect buttons. Not the common shirt button or the lowly B. V. D. button, but clever cussable kaleidescope buttons, the kind you can see pictures in. For their carefully collected assortment of 99 of these glorified clothes fasteners, Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Owen, 186 South Main street, are the proud possessors of a trophy awarded them yesterday as first prize for the best collection in the Kaleidescopic class at the National Button association show in the Hotel Stevens, Chicago.

Adopting a family for the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays, Girl Scouts of Troop 3 delivered their first basket this season yesterday afternoon after packing it with chicken and all the trimmings that go with a feast. It included cakes baked by one of the Scouts. Tomorrow the girls will take a holiday hike accompanied by their leader, Mrs. M. W. Stretch, although the destination has not been fixed since the original plans to visit the summer camp site on the J. H. Nichols farm have been cancelled.

Three Mansfielders will receive honors at the 27th annual athletic banquet at Wooster college Nov. 25, at which football, basketball, track, tennis, swimming and golf team members will be guests. The three are Mike Horvath and Daniel Simon, varsity football players, and George Murray, member of the freshman football squad.

OVER 'Y' GOAL

Pass 400 Mark in Membership Campaign, Chairman Says.

With the 72nd annual membership drive of the Mansfield Y. M. C. A. drawing to a close last night Harold Dysart, general chairman of the campaign announced today that although all the reports hadn't yet been tabulated, the Y. M. C. A. was over its goal of 400 new and renewal memberships by a margin of five.

The Blue army, commanded by Paul Berno, aided by Majors Lee Smaltz and Harold Mansfield, turned in the largest number of memberships.

A total of 117 new memberships has been obtained, which is 17 over the goal set at 100, while there are still 12 renewal memberships to be brought in to fill that goal of 300.

PACT SOLVES BIG PROBLEMS OF 2 NATIONS

Americans to Get $40,000,000 For Agrarian Claims; Mexicans Get Loan.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — The United States and Mexico have worked out a good neighbor program for the amicable solution of big, long-standing problems which affected harmonious relations between the two countries in the past.

Both Secretary of State Hull and Francisco Castillo Najera, the Mexican ambassador, hailed the accomplishment as an advance of great importance in the field of hemisphere solidarity and collaboration.

The program, represented by a series of agreements signed late yesterday, provides for the following:

Settlement of the protracted controversy over Mexico's expropriation of American oil holdings there;

A $40,000,000 payment by Mexico as full settlement of general and agrarian claims by American citizens;

Negotiation of a reciprocal trade pact;

American financial assistance in stabilizing the Mexican peso;

An agreement for purchase by the United States of newly mined Mexican silver; and

A $30,000,000 loan by the United States to assist in the financing of Mexico's highway construction program.

Settling the oil expropriation dispute promised to be the most difficult task posed by the program. Ever since the oil properties were taken over by the Mexican government in March, 1938, there have been negotiations between the Mexican government and the oil companies to arrive at a mutually satisfactory price for the holdings.

State department officials disclosed yesterday that the oil companies did not agree to the settlement provisions set forth in yesterday's six-point program. They added, however, that the companies had been kept fully informed during the period of its preparation.

The oil settlement arrangements provide that each government appoint an expert to fix the valuation of the seized properties and "determine the just compensation to be paid the Mexican owners (by Mexico) for their properties and rights and interests."

Pending final decision on the properties' value, the Mexican government is depositing $9,000,000 with the United States to be applied to the settlement reached.

If American and Mexican experts are unable to agree on a valuation within five months, the whole oil agreement will be nullified. Mexico's deposit will be returned, and the problem once more will pass to the field of diplomatic negotiations.

The wide variance of opinion on the value of properties is demonstrated by the fact that some Mexican estimates have been as low as $10,000,000 and $15,000,000, while oil company estimates total as high as $250,000,000.

Defense Classes Start Dec. 1 at Ontario School

The Springfield township school at Ontario will begin a defense training course Dec. 1, making it the first rural school in the county to inaugurate special classes for national defense workers.

Approval of an NYA defense course in general metal work has been received from Washington, L. C. Stingel, superintendent of the school, said yesterday. New equipment, including a metal lathe, electric welder, forge, drill presses, and sheet metal tools, are being installed in the school shop.

C. A. Campbel, industrial arts instructor at the school, will teach the defense class which will be open to young men in the Mansfield area. Instruction will begin at 7 p. m. Dec. 1 and applications for enrollment will be received at the school in Ontario, Stingel said.

The Mansfield schools launched defense classes more than a year ago. Others have been started during the past year at the NYA center east of the city and at the Mansfield CCC camp.

STORES HEAPED WITH GIFTS FOR MEN AND BOYS

Wives and Girl Friends Won't Have Much Trouble Finding Suitable Presents.

By BUD SPRUNGER

Wives and girl friends won't have any trouble finding suitable Christmas gifts for husbands, boy friends and Junior in Mansfield stores this year.

Muffler and glove sets are again going to claim a top position on the list of gifts along with suits, topcoats, hunting jackets and other items in street and sports wear.

Newest in suits is the olive drab covert cloth model with a three-button, single breasted coat and straight hanging trousers cut full at the hips and narrow at the bottoms.

Of course, tweads, herring bones and worsteds are still good and serviceable.

When it comes to shirts, women can be very, very safe in their selection by buying white broadcloths. No man is going to feel that such a shirt is either too loud for his years or too drab.

A wide variety of collars is available on all shirts this year and almost any of them are correct. Newest thing, however, is a wide slotted "Windsor" collar. Others are the round tipped shirt for wear with collar pin, the tab collar with an attachment which makes it stay down and the various pointed tips.

One tip: before buying a shirt for a man be sure to get his neck size and arm length. Nothing is more infuriating than getting an off-size gift shirt.

Two new types of pajamas are ready for men this season. The first is called the "ski" pajama and is like others except that the bottoms of the pants are woven and relieve that "crash landing" appearance while reading the Sunday paper.

The other is a combination lounging pajama and regular type. The upper is a knitted summer sweater while the pants are regular. Dealers say it's a lot warmer on cold nights.

In sweaters, women would be wise to stick to plain-colored ones such as most Mansfield dealers are featuring. A cable stitch job, either pull over or coat style, is good and can be worn under jackets in place of a vest.

And now ties. The Christmas tie situation is probably the most contested virtue of the whole season. One dealer said the best thing for a woman to do was to pick out the tie she liked best and then buy another.

Most men who specialize in this part of their apparel will not set out to buy one, but only pick one when the mood strikes them.

However, a tie is a mighty handy thing to have and to give. A few rules in choosing them are to pick a perfectly plain one with no design if in doubt, or to stay to well organized designs and stripes.

A man likes a tie that looks like there was some plan to it. Polka dots are good.

However ties that look patterned like a telephone booth doodling are out. A tie should have just a little pep so that it looks awake, but not so much that it resembles a paint chart.

Other gifts include sox, slippers, shoes, belts, jewelry, suspenders, cigaret cases and handkerchiefs.

Here Are Gift Suggestions Mansfield Stores Offer Men

Christmas buying season officially opens tomorrow. Here are some gift suggestions for men snapped by The News-Journal photographer on a tour of Mansfield stores. A popular sport jacket is shown in Picture No. 1. Designed for outdoor wear, this coat is made with either wool or waterproof materials. No. 2 shows traveling cases, muffler and glove sets and sports shirts, always popular gifts. 3—The complete range of men's wear is shown in this picture. Cable stitched sweaters like the one the model is holding are very good, especially for younger men. Top coat is obtainable with a zipper lining for colder days. 4—For an outdoor man here's equipment which will be welcome. Left is shown a waterproof coat with sport sox, gun, hunting shirt, and leather windbreaker. 5—For the woman who wants to give a big gift, here's a suit with a conservative stripe which has a lot of snap. 6—More gadgets are shown here surrounding a plaster of paris model. Popular this year as in past years is the key chain draped around the neck of the model. Gate posts support a fingernail and a cigaret case. 7—Model in this photo is shown wearing a smoking jacket. Those interested in the above gift suggestions can obtain information as to where they can be purchased by phoning The News-Journal at 4251-6.

'SALESMEN'

Police Instructed To 'Talk Way' Out of Trouble.

SACRAMENTO, Cal.—(INS)—A police force without firearms—with the motto: "If a man can't talk his way out of trouble, he doesn't belong on our force."

Heading this unique squad of 89 special officers, deputized by the City of San Diego, and 38 boys ranging in age from 7 to 13, is Richard Brimacombe, Chief of Linda Vista Guards.

Brimacombe, onetime Postmaster of Butte, Mont., and Butte city clerk and school board clerk, claims Linda Vista has the only law enforcement group of its kind in the country—protection without arms.

The police force rounded up the most promising youngsters in the newly expanding community to organize the Kearny Mesa Junior Patrol, with the primary function of assisting in the "good neighbor policy" adopted by the group.

PLASTIC MADE OF SUGAR CANE

New Development Expected To Pull Industry Out of Doldrums.

(By United Press)

NEW ORLEANS—Discovery of a cheap, miraculously tough plastic—made from bagasse, or crushed sugar cane fiber from which the juice has been extracted—is the latest hope to pull the domestic sugar industry well out of the doldrums.

Now in production at a plant near Lockport, La., the material has a thousand possible uses: gears, gun stocks, automobile bodies, airplane fuselages and wings, telephone equipment, radio, cabinets, transcription discs (for which aluminum is needed), casings for electric shavers, etc.

It is said to stand up under terrific punishment. Bending strains up to 13,000 pounds do not affect it. The plastic is an insulator of heat and electricity, requiring a flame of blow torch intensity to ignite it. Acids do not affect it.

A disc of the lustrous, jet-black substance six inches in diameter—designed to be a modern automobile horn—can be pounded on with a hammer or hurled on the floor without hurting it. Industrialists who have come to New Orleans to inspect the new product believes its manufacture should become a major industry and there are already more orders on hand than the present plant can fill.

The plastic was developed by two chemists—Dr. D. F. J. Lynch, now at the Southern regional research laboratory here, and T. R. McElhinney. They worked on bagasse together in a government laboratory at Ames, Ia.

After baling and drying, the bagasse is ground into a powder and chemically treated. Then the granulated product, subjected to intense heat, is shaped in steel molds under pressures as high as 3,000 pounds to the square inch. The whole process is one of mass production.

About 1,500,000 tons of bagasse are wasted every year in Louisiana alone and there would be no transportation cost on the raw material since the plastic-manufacturing factories would be set up right next to the sugar refineries.

A carnival which toured England in the middle of the 18th century exhibited a man eight feet tall who could snap six-inch posts across one knee.

SEASON'S TOYS SHOWING BIG 'ARMY' TREND

Military Features Notable In Offerings On Store Counters of City.

World War II has swept just about everything else before it and now it has invaded Toyland.

Instead of regular peace-time toys, Mansfield youngsters are going to find miniature blitzkrieg tools of war under their Christmas trees this year.

The trend is especially noticeable on the electric train counters. Where the emphasis was formerly on freight yards and depots, milk trains, oil tankers and switches, this year there will be completely equipped military trains, outfitted with electric searchlights and anti-aircraft guns, loads of shells and radio transmission stations on wheels.

Besides the trains, toy soldiers themselves have undergone transformation. In the old days, soldiers were cast as marching infantry or cavalry. Since the beginning of World war II, however, toy troops are assuming more life-like poses.

One store in Mansfield even has a "jeep" car for the youngster's Christmas. Of the same size, as toy fire trucks or other toy autos, this machine is fully equipped for war.

Most toy stores, however, will not feature as large a quantity of wheel and electric train goods as in previous years. Restrictions on defense metals has cut down the supply for this type of toy.

Sleds, a steady standby for the Christmas trade, will be more streamlined than ever this year. Gone are the days when a sled was merely a wooden frame with steel runners. Now the sledding public rides on contraptions which resemble a Superman vehicle.

Dolls have been developed to the point where there isn't much more that can be done to them, so manufacturers of little girls' toys have concentrated on miniature kitchen equipment.

Available are small washing machines which actually wash doll clothes, small refrigerators and working electric stoves—all carefully constructed so that they cannot injure children.

Amateur chemistry and photographic sets are ready again this year with the regular construction sets and toy steam engines.

Most construction sets have plans with methods for equipping finished construction work with power from the steam engines so that parts will move.

More athletic toys are being displayed this year than previously, dealers also report. Piled on busy counters are basketballs, footballs, skates, baseball equipment. Newest in this line are small footballs for use in tag ball.

Burlesque shows date back as far as 300 B. C. when "strip-tease" acts were introduced to the Greeks.

Toylands In Mansfield Stores Crammed With Gifts for Kiddies

The really important part of Christmas buying is the toy situation. Here are a group of dolls and other toys snapped in Toylands of Mansfield stores in preparation for the buying season. Photos 1, 2, 3, and 4 show the huge stocks of dolls in readiness for the holiday gift buying. 5—A sled, fire engine, photographic set, steam engine and a miniature washing machine are shown here. Having practically exhausted the possible fixtures on dolls, manufacturers have this year produced machines which will actually wash doll clothing. 6—The military stress is shown in this electric train. Equipped with a shooting cannon, it also carries shells, a tank, a searchlight, an anti-aircraft gun, and a radio communication car. Shown beside the train is an army depot and soldiers with cannon busily defending it. 6—Here are three small autos sure to gladden the heart of any future general. Left to right they are a dive bomber with machine gun, an ambulance, and a tank. For those interested in the above gift suggestions, information as to where they can be purchased can be obtained by phoning The News-Journal at 4251-6.

JURISTS STUDY 'DRINK METER,' ENTER DISSENT

Legal Question Centers on Border Line Cases of Alcoholism.

(By United Press)

RIDGEFIELD, Conn.—Connecticut State Police formally accepted the new portable alcoholmeter to be used in determining degrees of drunkenness, and police and jurists enthusiastically acclaimed it after demonstrations and the first actual test at the State Police barracks here, but two Greenwich judges said they believed it far from infallible.

The apparatus, invented by two Yale university scientists, is about the size of a table model radio. It can be plugged into an ordinary wall socket, and requires no special training to operate. The person being tested breaths into a tube in the side of the machine, the operator pushes a button and eight minutes later reads the meter.

The dissenting judges, while admitting the machine accurately measured the alcoholic content of blood, said that persons who are in the "zone of tolerance" (between .05 and .15 per cent alcohol in the blood) still offer a problem which can be solved only by testimony of doctors, policemen and spectators who observe the conduct and actions of the accused.

They agree that readings below the zone of tolerance show a person is not intoxicated and that readings over .15 per cent provide a prima facie case of intoxication in court. They say, however, that no one could be forced to take the tests as now provided—the subject blowing into the machine—it being self-incriminating and thus remains voluntary.

In its first actual test, the alcoholmeter broke down the "two beers" alibi of a week-end motorist.

"You can't fool that machine," he said. "When it showed how much I had to drink, I just quit stalling and told the truth."

The apparatus previously was tested here before 100 Connecticut and New York jurists, legislators and police officials, three state troopers in civilian dress serving as "professional models," drinking specified amounts of beer, whisky and gin and then breathing into the tube. A quart and a half of beer produced a record below the zone of tolerance, but six highballs sent the needle to the top of the gage at .3 per cent.

Alcohol in the subject's breath acts on a colorless solution of starch, turning it blue—the more alcohol the bluer the solution becomes. This colored liquid is then placed between the terminals of an electric eye, producing varying electric currents which are recorded on a dial.

State police plan to equip all barracks with the apparatus.

Most men who specialize in this part of their apparel will not set out to buy one, but only pick one when the mood strikes them.

However, a tie is a mighty handy thing to have and to give. A few rules in choosing them are to pick a perfectly plain one with no design if in doubt, or to stay to well organized designs and stripes.

A man likes a tie that looks like there was some plan to it. Polka dots are good.

However ties that look patterned like a telephone booth doodling are out. A tie should have just a little pep so that it looks awake, but not so much that it resembles a paint chart.

Other gifts include sox, slippers, shoes, belts, jewelry, suspenders, cigaret cases and handkerchiefs.

Here Are Gift Suggestions Mansfield Stores Offer Men

Christmas buying season officially opens tomorrow. Here are some gift suggestions for men snapped by The News-Journal photographer on a tour of Mansfield stores. A popular sport jacket is shown in Picture No. 1. Designed for outdoor wear, this coat is made with either wool or waterproof materials. No. 2 shows traveling cases, muffler and glove sets and sports shirts, always popular gifts.. 3—The complete range of men's wear is shown in this picture. Cable stitched sweaters like the one the model is holding are very good, especially for younger men. Top coat is obtainable with a zipper lining for colder days. 4—For an outdoor man here's equipment which will be welcome. Left is shown a waterproof coat with sport sox, gun, hunting shirt, and leather windbreaker. 5—For the woman who wants to give a big gift, here's a suit with a conservative stripe which has a lot of snap. 6—More gadgets are shown here surrounding a plaster of paris model. Popular this year as in past years is the key chain draped around the neck of the model. Gate posts support a fingernail and a cigaret case. 7—Model in this photo is shown wearing a smoking jacket. Those interested in the above gift suggestions can obtain information as to where they can be purchased by phoning The News-Journal at 4251-6.

'SALESMEN'

Police Instructed To 'Talk Way' Out of Trouble.

SACRAMENTO, Cal.—(INS)—A police force without firearms—with the motto: "If a man can't talk his way out of trouble, he doesn't belong on our force."

Heading this unique squad of 89 special officers, deputized by the City of San Diego, and 38 boys ranging in age from 7 to 13, is Richard Brimacombe, Chief of Linda Vista Guards.

Brimacombe, onetime Postmaster of Butte, Mont., and Butte city clerk and school board clerk, claims Linda Vista has the only law enforcement group of its kind in the country—protection without arms.

The police force rounded up the most promising youngsters in the newly expanding community to organize the Kearny Mesa Junior Patrol, with the primary function of assisting in the "good neighbor policy" adopted by the group.

PLASTIC MADE OF SUGAR CANE

New Development Expected To Pull Industry Out of Doldrums.

(By United Press)

NEW ORLEANS—Discovery of a cheap, miraculously tough plastic—made from bagasse, or crushed sugar cane fiber from which the juice has been extracted—is the latest hope to pull the domestic sugar industry well out of the doldrums.

Now in production at a plant near Lockport, La., the material has a thousand possible uses: gears, gun stocks, automobile bodies, airplane fuselages and wings, telephone equipment, radio, cabinets, transcription discs (for which aluminum is needed), casings for electric shavers, etc.

It is said to stand up under terrific punishment. Bending strains up to 13,000 pounds do not affect it. The plastic is an insulator of heat and electricity, requiring a flame of blow torch intensity to ignite it. Acids do not affect it.

A disc of the lustrous, jet-black substance six inches in diameter—designed to be a modern automobile horn—can be pounded on with a hammer or hurled on the floor without hurting it. Industrialists who have come to New Orleans to inspect the new product believes its manufacture should become a major industry and there are already more orders on hand than the present plant can fill.

The plastic was developed by two chemists—Dr. D. F. J. Lynch, now at the Southern regional research laboratory here, and T. R. McElhinney. They worked on bagasse together in a government laboratory at Ames, Ia.

After baling and drying, the bagasse is ground into a powder and chemically treated. Then the granulated product, subjected to intense heat, is shaped in steel molds under pressures as high as 3,000 pounds to the square inch. The whole process is one of mass production.

About 1,500,000 tons of bagasse are wasted every year in Louisiana alone and there would be no transportation cost on the raw material since the plastic-manufacturing factories would be set up right next to the sugar refineries.

A carnival which toured England in the middle of the 18th century exhibited a man eight feet tall who could snap six-inch posts across one knee.

SEASON'S TOYS SHOWING BIG 'ARMY' TREND

Military Features Notable In Offerings On Store Counters of City.

World War II has swept just about everything else before it and now it has invaded Toyland.

Instead of regular peace-time toys, Mansfield youngsters are going to find miniature blitzkrieg tools of war under their Christmas trees this year.

The trend is especially noticeable on the electric train counters. Where the emphasis was formerly on freight yards and depots, milk trains, oil tankers and switches, this year there will be completely equipped military trains, outfitted with electric searchlights and anti-aircraft guns, loads of shells and radio transmission stations on wheels.

Besides the trains, toy soldiers themselves have undergone transformation. In the old days, soldiers were cast as marching infantry or cavalry. Since the beginning of World war II, however, toy troops are assuming more life-like poses.

One store in Mansfield even has a "jeep" car for the youngster's Christmas. Of the same size, as toy fire trucks or other toy autos, this machine is fully equipped for war.

Most toy stores, however, will not feature as large a quantity of wheel and electric train goods as in previous years. Restrictions on defense metals has cut down the supply for this type of toy.

Sleds, a steady standby for the Christmas trade, will be more streamlined than ever this year. Gone are the days when a sled was merely a wooden frame with steel runners. Now the sledding public rides on contraptions which resemble a Superman vehicle.

Dolls have been developed to the point where there isn't much more that can be done to them, so manufacturers of little girls' toys have concentrated on miniature kitchen equipment.

Available are small washing machines which actually wash doll clothes, small refrigerators and working electric stoves—all carefully constructed so that they cannot injure children.

Amateur chemistry and photographic sets are ready again this year with the regular construction sets and toy steam engines.

Most construction sets have plans with methods for equipping finished construction work with power from the steam engines so that parts will move.

More athletic toys are being displayed this year than previously, dealers also report. Piled on busy counters are basketballs, footballs, skates, baseball equipment. Newest in this line are small footballs for use in tag ball.

Burlesque shows date back as far as 300 B. C. when "strip-tease" acts were introduced to the Greeks.

Toylands In Mansfield Stores Crammed With Gifts for Kiddies

The really important part of Christmas buying is the toy situation. Here are a group of dolls and other toys snapped in Toylands of Mansfield stores in preparation for the buying season. Photos 1, 2, 3, and 4 show the huge stocks of dolls in readiness for the holiday gift buying. 5—A sled, fire engine, photographic set, steam engine and a miniature washing machine are shown here. Having practically exhausted the possible fixtures on dolls, manufacturers have this year produced machines which will actually wash doll clothing. 6—The military stress is shown in this electric train. Equipped with a shooting cannon, it also carries shells, a tank, a searchlight, an anti-aircraft gun, and a radio communication car. Shown beside the train is an army depot and soldiers with cannon busily defending it. 6—Here are three small autos sure to gladden the heart of any future general. Left to right they are a dive bomber with machine gun, an ambulance, and a tank. For those interested in the above gift suggestions, information as to where they can be purchased can be obtained by phoning The News-Journal at 4251-6.

JURISTS STUDY 'DRINK METER,' ENTER DISSENT

Legal Question Centers on Border Line Cases of Alcoholism.

(By United Press)

RIDGEFIELD, Conn.—Connecticut State Police formally accepted the new portable alcoholmeter to be used in determining degrees of drunkenness, and police and jurists enthusiastically acclaimed it after demonstrations and the first actual test at the State Police barracks here, but two Greenwich judges said they believed it far from infallible.

The apparatus, invented by two Yale university scientists, is about the size of a table model radio. It can be plugged into an ordinary wall socket, and requires no special training to operate. The person being tested breaths into a tube in the side of the machine, the operator pushes a button and eight minutes later reads the meter.

The dissenting judges, while admitting the machine accurately measured the alcoholic content of blood, said that persons who are in the "zone of tolerance" (between .05 and .15 per cent alcohol in the blood) still offer a problem which can be solved only by testimony of doctors, policemen and spectators who observe the conduct and actions of the accused.

They agree that readings below the zone of tolerance show a person is not intoxicated and that readings over .15 per cent provide a prima facie case of intoxication in court. They say, however, that no one could be forced to take the tests as now provided—the subject blowing into the machine—it being self-incriminating and thus remains voluntary.

In its first actual test, the alcoholmeter broke down the "two beers" alibi of a week-end motorist.

"You can't fool that machine," he said. "When it showed how much I had to drink, I just quit stalling and told the truth."

The apparatus previously was tested here before 100 Connecticut and New York jurists, legislators and police officials, three state troopers in civilian dress serving as "professional models," drinking specified amounts of beer, whisky and gin and then breathing into the tube. A quart and a half of beer produced a record below the zone of tolerance, but six highballs sent the needle to the top of the gage at .3 per cent.

Alcohol in the subject's breath acts on a colorless solution of starch, turning it blue—the more alcohol the bluer the solution becomes. This colored liquid is then placed between the terminals of an electric eye, producing varying electric currents which are recorded on a dial.

State police plan to equip all barracks with the apparatus.

MANSFIELDERS MEET WITH OPM

Manufacturers To Attend U. S. Priorities 'Clinic' at Cleveland Nov. 26.

Priorities and their effect on business and manufacturing will be considered by Mansfield area and other northern Ohio manufacturers attending a priorities clinic to be conducted by officials of the priorities division of the OPM at the Hotel Statler in Cleveland Nov. 26.

Purpose of the clinic, which is one of a series arranged for different industrial centers, is to give executives of OPM's priorities division the opportunity to explain the workings of the system to the business men whose operations depend upon it.

W. T. Walker, priorities head in northern Ohio, will direct a forum discussion period followed by a speaking program in which allocations, metal shortages, project ratings, basic mechanics, repair and maintenance and other items will be considered.

STRIKE AT CURB ON FARM PRICES

Farm Bureau Members Oppose Ceiling That Doesn't Include Wages.

Resolutions passed by members of the Richland County Farm bureau at a recent meeting have placed the bureau on record as being opposed to any federal government curb on farm prices which does not "equally apply to wages and prices of other commodities."

Also recommended was that the state highway department be encouraged to give more attention to maintenance of secondary roads.

While urging all of the membership to produce as much as possible in line with the national defense effort, the meeting went on record as also urging each farmer to exercise caution by maintaining a "sound financial structure in his own business" while feeding the nation and its allies.

MEET MONDAY

BUCYRUS — Crawford county rural board of education will hold its semi-annual meeting at which election of officers will be held at Sulphur Springs Monday night.

Members will have as guest speaker Delbert Woodford, director of personnel in the state department of education and former county superintendent of Jefferson county schools.

BOOK REVIEWED AT CRESTLINE

CRESTLINE — Two chapters from the study book "Dangerous Opportunities" was reviewed by Mrs. Paul Kindinger at a meeting of Ruth Missionary circle recently at the home of Mrs. A. C. Kindinger.

Plans were made for a joint dinner meeting with the Women's Missionary society at the Y. M. C. A., Dec. 2, when Mrs. Harry Farnsworth, president of the Women's society, will review the book "Christian Roots of America."

The annual thank offering service was planned for Nov. 30. It will be held at 7:30 p. m., at which time Mrs. Ward Hartman of Galion, a returned missionary, will be guest speaker.

News Happenings From Communities In Richland, County Vicinity

FARMERS HERE TO RECEIVE HIGH AAA CORN LOANS

Rate To Vary From 69 to 79 Cents a Bushel Under 1941 Federal Program.

Farmers in Richland and 62 other commercial corn producing counties of Ohio will receive the highest loan rates in history under the 1941 Agricultural Adjustment Administration program, Chairman Elmer F. Kruse of the Ohio AAA committee announced at Columbus today.

The rate will vary from 76 to 79 cents a bushel in Ohio instead of the flat 61 cents a bushel prevailing in 1940, Kruse said.

Only those farmers who planted within 1941 AAA corn acreage allotments will be eligible for the loans.

Kruse explained that the purpose of the loans was to encourage farmers to withhold a portion of their production for sale over an extended period instead of unloading on crowded market at harvest time.

Farmers retain possession of the corn throughout the loan period but receive immediate payment.

The loan rate for counties in non-commercial corn producing areas has been set at 58 cents a bushel for 1941.

CONDUCT TUCKER RITES FRIDAY

ASHLAND — Funeral services for Ed Tucker, 70, who died Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Clarence Steiner, north of Nankin, after a lingering illness, will be held Friday at 2 p. m. at the Heyl funeral home. Rev A. J. Calvin and Rev. T. K. McDonald of Savannah will officiate. Burial will be in Savannah cemetery.

Mr. Tucker was born in Williams county, April 3, 1871, and had been a resident of Ashland county for the past 12 years. Survivors are a daughter, Mrs. Margaret McClain of Savannah, a sister, Mrs. Jennie Beer of Mansfield R. D., and one granddaughter.

THANKSGIVING BASKETS GO TO ASHLAND NEEDY

Business and Professional Women Distribute Food Supplies.

ASHLAND — Seven Thanksgiving baskets were distributed by Ashland Business and Professional Women's club Wednesday for dinners today.

Each basket contained a chicken, a pumpkin pie, a can of apple-butter, in addition to canned goods, vegetables, oranges and cocoa. This has been a custom of the club for a number of years, coming under their public affairs projects.

All the food was donated by club members. Mrs. Leo Stout, chairman of the public affairs committee, assisted by Mrs. Doris Williams prepared the baskets.

Numerous clubs and church organizations of the city have distributed similar baskets for Thanksgiving in addition to some persons who have taken it upon themselves to supply a dinner for some needy family.

Both Miss Margaret Miller, county relief director, and Mrs. R. J. Switzer, Community Fund investigator, have supplied names of families to these donors.

FIRST GRADER TESTS REVEAL PUPIL ABILITY

New System Used In Mansfield Schools Helps Teachers Classify Newcomers.

First graders in Mansfield schools are learning their A, B, C's under a different plan and some of them don't have to learn them at all.

When 580 youngsters started to school in the first grade last September they took a test, known as the California Test of Mental Maturity, to help their teachers classify them without waiting until they were acquainted with the characteristics of each of the first graders.

Results of the test showed that about 165 of the beginners ranked as "superior" or "very superior" in mental ability and 72 of them knew enough about reading to place them well above the average pupil.

The greater number of them ranked as average, while 119 were classified as slow to learn. Only 14 of the latter group were rated as "inadequate" pupils.

With this information, principals and teachers planned the pupils' first year of training to correspond to their abilities. Those who already knew how to read were placed in more advanced classes and received special textbooks. Others who showed in the tests that they knew little or nothing about reading were placed in classes to teach them the alphabet and the first elements of the language.

In substance, the tests helped teachers to separate the "slow" pupils from those who may have been taught at home and were ready for more advanced lessons. The plan, Supt. of Schools W. L. Miller pointed out, permits the brighter pupils to go on ahead and gives the boys and girls with handicaps more time to learn.

The tests are not limited to mentality only, the superintendent said. They bring out the pupil's ability to perceive, intercept, and work with his hands. Those who know little about reading are not necessarily dull mentally; they may have unusual ability to make things with their hands, he pointed out.

By studying the results of the tests, the teacher can place her pupils where they will get the help they need without the embarrassment that comes from competing with others who possibly had more advantages before starting to school and may have special talents.

"This testing program is not an effort to stamp upon the children a certain type of mentality but rather to determine as nearly as possible the type of background the child has and from which he must work as he enters school," Miller said.

Reading readiness tests will be conducted for the same pupils at the beginning of the second semester, and they are expected to show school officials and teachers how effective the tests were and how much progress the pupils have made.

Mansfield Girl Scouts Are Faced With Busy Week

Girl Scout troop leaders listed three group meetings on their schedule for next week as arrangements were completed today for two round-table discussions for Senior and Intermediate troop leaders respectively.

Senior troop leaders will meet Nov. 26, at 3:15 p. m. in Girl Scout headquarters and Intermediate leaders will convene Nov. 27, in the Chamber of Commerce rooms at 3:15 p. m.

Miss Eleanor Bond, Girl Scout executive secretary, who will conduct the discussions will explain the Badge program to the Intermediate leaders and tell them how to use it.

Tuesday night new leaders of Mansfield troops will begin a 12-hour training course in troop leadership in the Chamber of Commerce rooms at 7:30 p. m. Dates for the remaining training will be fixed by the group.

Empire Steel's $137,000 Payroll Highest Recorded

Payroll for the Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company last Friday, Nov. 14, was the largest in the company's history, James M. Hill, president, said yesterday.

Amounting to $137,000, the money was distributed among 1,233 workers. It covered work for a three-week period.

Besides the plant payroll, 78 office workers received an additional $11,000 in wages at the same time.

Officers of the company predicted wages this year would far exceed last year's total.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, November 21
By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

WHILE there are several auguries for defeat, reversals, sudden disruptions and subtle as well as open hostility, according to the astral chart, yet also there are offsetting redeeming features. It is probable that through the recognation of merit and substantial and well-organized programs, engineered by caution, ingenuity as well as determined, practical and energetic effort, that the attention and cooperation of superiors, employers or other influential persons may be counted upon to turn the tide toward surprising achievement and unlooked for progress.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, although being confronted by a year of adverse, discouraging situations, subtle and manifest antagonisms, yet may have the promise of turning all this connivance aside by tact, precautions, skill, as well as innovations, well-organized plans and practical measures for spurring flagging affairs into dynamic life. This program should attract not only the opposition but the enthusiastic support and endorsement of interests of power and purpose. Seek this from friends, employers and superiors.

A child born on this day should possesses some unusual skills, ingenuity and energy, with the initiative to put over important projects despite much conflict, trickery and snares. Its friends should come to the rescue, but perpetual caution is recommended.

ODEUM HAD WPA

BERKELEY, Cal.—(U.P.)—The Odeum, the famous music theater of ancient Greece, was a WPA project, according to Dr. James Turney Allen, professor of Greek at the University of California. Recent research, he said, reveals there was a depression during the Golden Age of Pericles and the latter used public money freely in providing relief projects.

A formula has been discovered for extracting or refining gasoline from the tar sands of Saskatchewan and Alberta.

YOUTHS FIND POULTRY RAISING RATHER PROFITABLE SIDELINE

(By International News Service)

BOONVILLE, Ind.—Recognizing the government's policy of shipping all possible beef, ham and bacon to Britain, a veritable army of Hoosier youths is adding poultry-raising to their activities and are cashing in on the mounting demand for chicken to supplement domestic menus.

Typical of the newcomers into the field of poultry production are the three sons of Oscar L. Phillips, postmaster of famed Santa Claus, Ind.—Norman, 16; Lewis, 15, and Dallas, 13.

Although there are larger poultry farms in southern Indiana—some raising as many as 20,000 broilers annually — the Phillips boys have scored an impressive beginning that dates from last Spring when they first learned that they could help in lifting the output of food to war-beleaguered England.

The Santa Claus youths have gone in exclusively for the broiler trade—raising 389 broilers from their first block of 400 baby chicks. Their sale on the Ferdinand market, bought by Bartley Bros., brought 18 to 18½ cents a pound, grossing $170 and paying a net profit of $99.

If an owl hadn't killed 11 chicks one night, the youths probably would have scored a 100 per cent production record. However, they killed the owl and stuffed him to net more than the poultry loss.

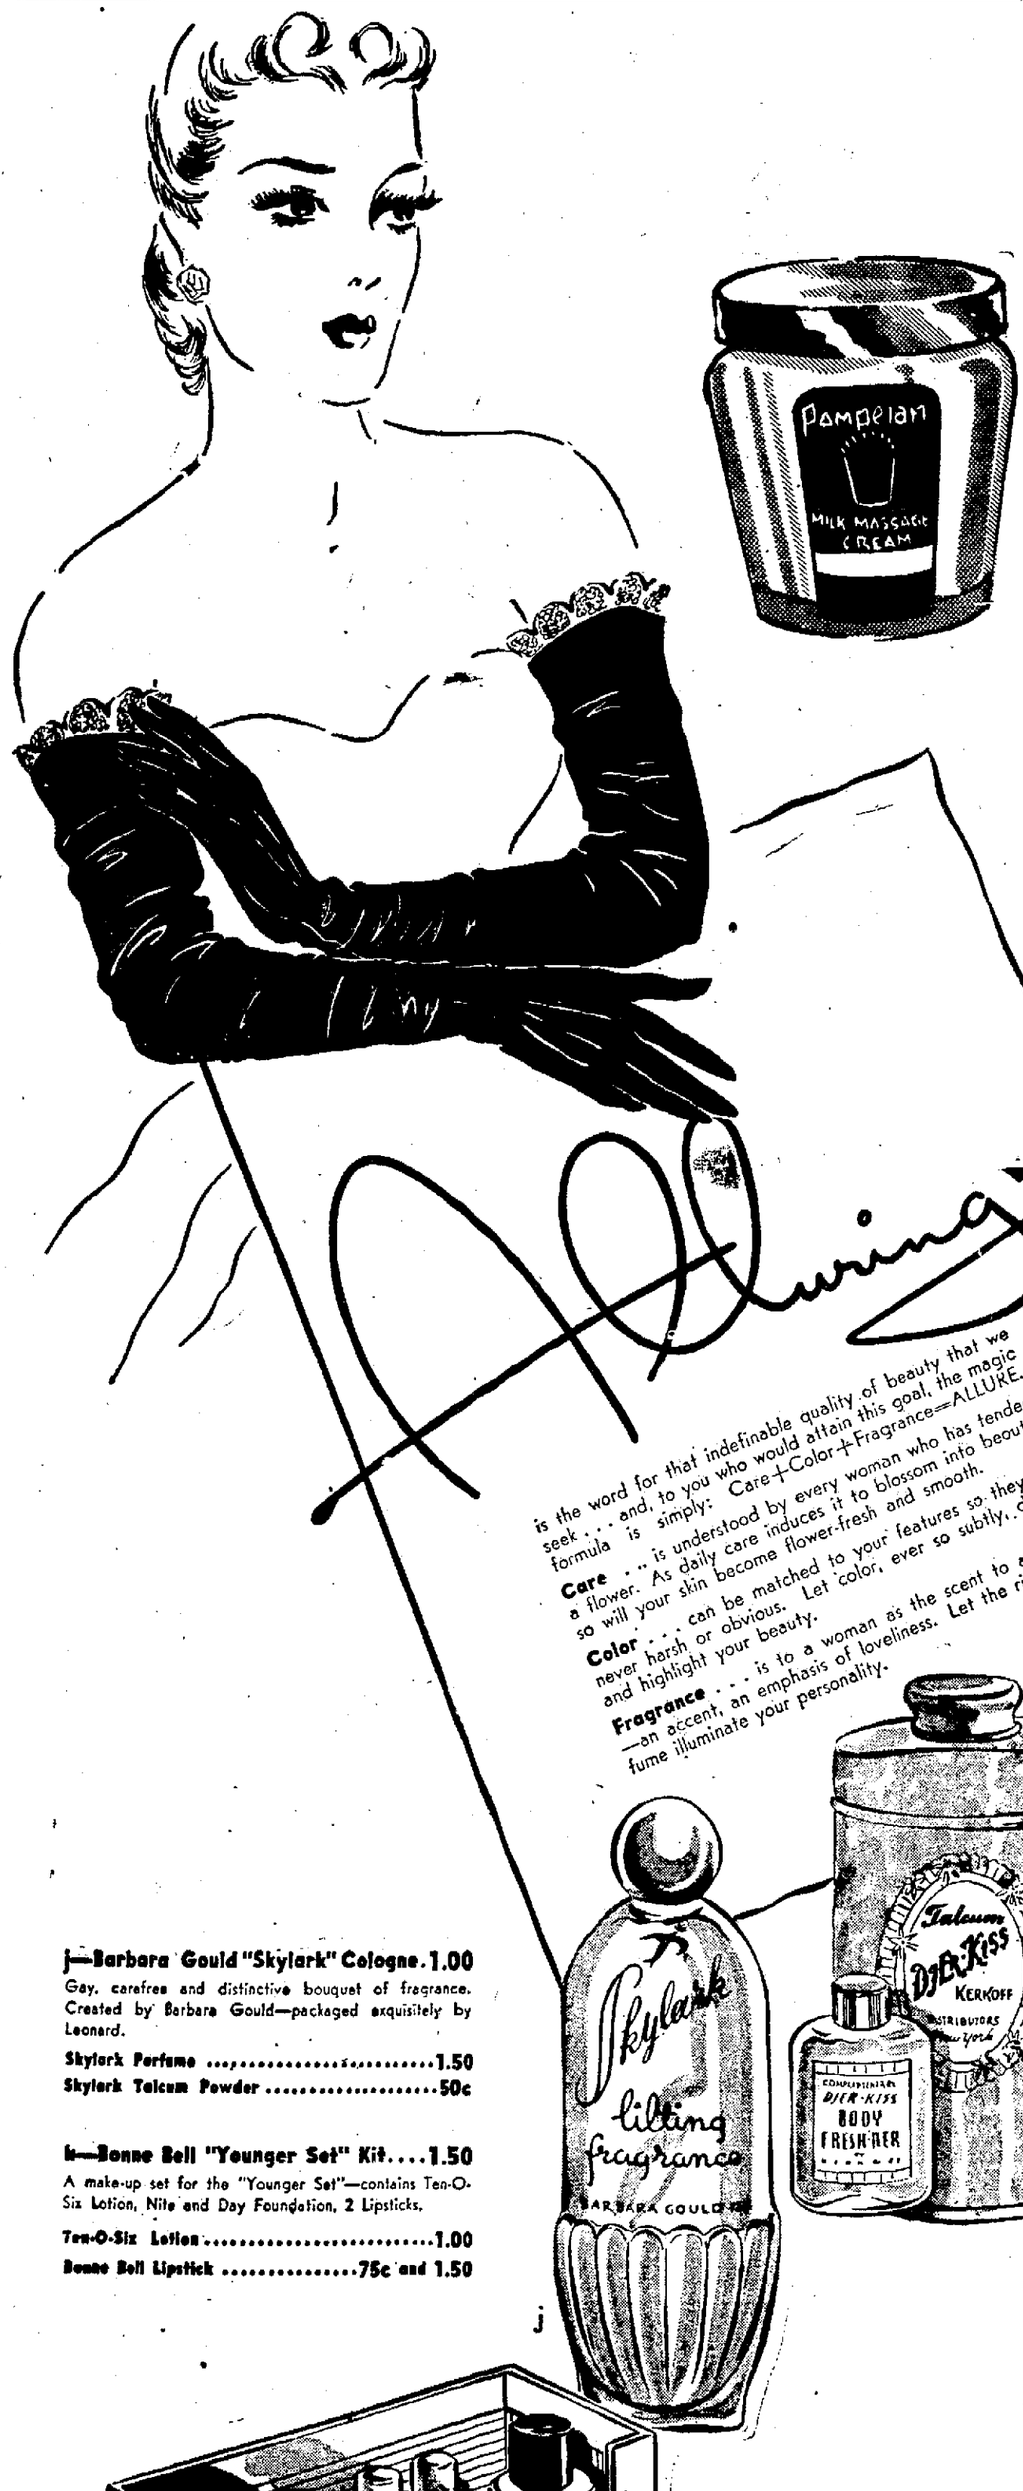
Norman envisions a future Santa Claus hatchery and poultry ranch when he is graduated next year from high school at Dale. Born on Friday-the-13th, in August, the youth has always carried the nickname "lucky" despite the fact that he was slightly crippled by a siege of infantile paralysis during his infancy.

Two abandoned railway coaches that once served a remailing concern as offices for their Santa Claus Mail Train enterprise, have been converted into suitable chicken houses. The coach windows, transoms and an old stove afford just the right amount of air, sunlight and heat to bring the chicks along rapidly to frying size.

Lewis, 15, who celebrated his birthday this summer by buying the second flock of chicks, is supervising their raising. He won the honor by knocking out the owl with a broomstick.

Dallas, who is an eighth grade pupil at Lamar, is learning the art of poultry-raising from his older brothers.

The boys believe that Santa Claus will be an ideal place from which to market their production. And now that the community has electricity, they foresee installation of an electric hatchery in the near future.



is the word for that indefinable quality of beauty that we seek . . . and, to you who would attain this goal, the magic formula is simply: Care+Color+Fragrance=ALLURE.

Care . . . is understood by every woman who has tended a flower. As daily care induces it to blossom into beauty, so will your skin become flower-fresh and smooth.

Color . . . can be matched to your features so they are never harsh or obvious. Let color, ever so subtly, define and highlight your beauty.

Fragrance . . . is to a woman as the scent to a flower —an accent, an emphasis of loveliness. Let the right perfume illuminate your personality.

Stores Stock Big Supply of Novelty Gifts

After you've completed your Christmas list you'll probably find nearly half the things you are planning to buy are novelties. Although some of them may be small and inexpensive they show the sentiment with which you are giving them. In the above pictures are gifts that Mansfield merchants are suggesting to help you complete your Christmas shopping early this year. In photo No. 1 is an ideal set for baby with a table setting in Community Plate and 1847 Rogers Brothers articles. Beauty kits, colognes and powder boxes are shown in photo No. 2. In photos No. 3 and 4 are jewelry and household gadgets that are welcomed by any member of the family. Those interested in the above gift suggestions can obtain information as to where they can be purchased by phoning The News-Journal at 4251-6.

CITY'S STORE COUNTERS SHOW HUNDREDS OF NOVELTY GIFTS

To make Christmas exciting for everyone, pick a gift of beauty and color to relieve the tension of troubled times. Downtown merchants are always showing hundreds of holiday articles, both inexpensive and costly, that will make this Christmas a happier holiday for everyone. As defense priorities may make future shipments of merchandise difficult to obtain, Mansfield merchants are urging the purchase of gifts early.

From the youngest member of the family to the oldest there is always a gift, no matter how small or inexpensice it may be, that will make him glad he is living in a country where he can enjoy Christmas without being interrupted by air raid sirens and bombers zooming over the city bringing death and destruction.

At Christmas time it's always a problem as to what to buy for baby. Big, stuffed animals in gay colors and jolly animals made of Turkish toveling will be excellent for a youngster who may injure himself with sharp toys. If you want to buy something that will last for years and years get a set of silverware of Community Plate or 1947 Roger Brothers.

For mother there are always hostess aprons in unbleached muslin and organdie with flowers and figures appliqued and embroidered on them. As she always likes things for the home why not get her potholders made of percale, cotton or sateen, napkin rings or linen dish towels in natural colors and smart pastels with her initials on them.

Gifts of jewelry, make-up and colognes and perfume have been ideal for young and old for many years. Crystal and glass bottles in all shapes and sizes come done up in pastel ribbons and bright, eye-catching colors.

There's also an intriguing array of fragrances and an impressive line-up of beauty kits. For men and boys several Mansfield merchants are handling novelties advertised in a nationally known magazine for men. There are book ends, cigaret cases, ash trays, tie racks, military sets in rich wood and scores of other gifts of this type.

SACRIFICED FOR NAVY

OMAHA, Neb. —(U.P.)— Wade Lassiter would have given his little toe to be admitted into the navy. He did just that when he learned that his left little toe was out of alignment. Young Lassiter on his 17th birthday went to the hospital, had the toe amputated and will take another examination soon.

Prominent Tiffin Man Recommends Bee Bee's To Anyone Suffering From Kidney Trouble

MR. ALEX CROMLEY

Declares that his urine didn't flow free enough and he would be called to relieve his kidneys several times each night, which disturbed his sleep greatly. Thanks Bee Bee's for giving relief.

"I had been bothered with annoying nightly risings to relieve my kidneys and my urine didn't flow freely," says Mr. Alex Cromley, 76 years of age, of R. F. D. No. 1, Tiffin, Ohio.

"If I could tell thousands of people how Bee Bee's benefited me, I would be highly satisfied. Then, many others who might be troubled as I was, could try this grand medicine and perhaps receive similar relief."

"I used to get up seven or eight times at night and this disturbed my sleep terribly. As a result, I felt nervous and bad in the morning and I had little energy during the day. This frequent rising at night caused me lot of inconvenience and distress during the past seven years. (Since taking Bee Bee's I have to arise only two or three times at night and my sleep is sound and restful. I feel more energetic and more like myself during the day.) I had pains in my back, and my legs would get stiff if I sat around for a while. My urination was scanty and with my kidney and bladder distress, it seemed improved. Bee Bee's was the very medicine I needed. I will speak highly to others about the benefits I received from Bee Bee's."

Tygers Start All-Senior Team Against Fremont Today

Sport Podge by REX HESS

Mansfield high school gridders have selected an all-opponent team for the 1941 season, and guess what school grabbed the biggest share of the honors. Massillon.

I fail to hear the thud of surprised Mansfield fans falling off their chairs as they read this startling news.

Massillon just took six of the 11 positions on the Tyger all-star selections among their opponents.

Canton McKinley copped two of the remaining five posts, and Shelby, Springfield and Sandusky shared the other three.

The Tyger selections: Demando, Massillon, and Bean, Springfield, ends; Weisgarber and Dolmos, Massillon, tackles; Hill, Massillon, and Babcock, Sandusky, guards; Cook, Canton McKinley, center; Bob Laubie, Shelby, quarterback; Fred (Pokey) Blunt, Massillon, and Tom Harris, Canton McKinley, halfbacks, and Holt, Massillon, fullback.

There's a pretty good football team, neighbors. I wouldn't be surprised if it might not be able to give Mansfield's Tygers a battle.

The draft is reaching out and interrupting some promising baseball careers of our Mansfield Braves.

Chuck Byers, who has been working here since the end of the baseball season, returns to his home in New Oxford, Pa., today for a brief visit with his family before reporting to the army Monday.

And I hear Catcher Tim Mangan is already wearing Uncle Sam's uniform.

Two of the 1941 Braves who aren't in uniform yet were back in town for a visit over the weekend, I am just now hearing.

They were Eddie the Mighty Man Mutryn and Bob (Irish) Kuzava.

Seems the boys made some friends in Mansfield during the summer just past.

SEASON'S GREETINGS: A happy turkey day to you one and all, and what will you bet it doesn't rain for the holiday grid game this p. m. at Stadium field?

Teams Play at Galion Again

Mansfield Club Unable To Get Local Field.

Mansfield City News gridders and Galion Jaycees will play their return game Sunday, but not in Mansfield. They'll play once more at Galion.

After the Madison school board turned down the Mansfield pros on a Sunday game at Madison high field, efforts were made to obtain the Mansfield high school field, but the Mansfield board also declined use of that field.

Galion's school board came to the rescue. "You can play your game here on the Galion field," the Mansfielders were told, "just as though it were your home field. You can have the field and the services of four policemen for nothing. All it will cost you is the expense of game officials."

Back of the kind offer is the fact that the Mansfield team took a comparatively low guarantee for last Sunday's game at Galion before a crowd of nearly 3,000, in order that most of the receipts could go to the Galion high school band and athletic department. Galion was to have played here Sunday for the same guarantee.

* * *

Galion wants revenge for the close 13 to 0 defeat handed the Jaycees by the bigger City News eleven last Sunday, but the good neighbor policy of returning Mansfield's benefit game favor of last Sunday, and not revenge, was the motive behind the kind offer of the use of the Galion field.

* * *

Probably the same lineups that were used in last Sunday's game will start this Sunday's tilt. Galion's lineup was good enough last Sunday to get within the Mansfield 10-yard line several times, being held once on the three-yard stripe.

Cage Play Starts In Few Days

Richland County Teams Prepare For Season.

By BUD SPRUNGER
News-Journal Sports Writer.

WITH Madison high school out of the county tournament this year—suffering from an acute case of Class A size—the other basketball squads in Richland county are preparing for a hit-him-again-he's-still-breathing season topped by the annual county Class B tournament.

Madison's Rams, however, will play in the County league during the regular season and will be ranked odds on favorite to take the league lead going away.

Coach Al Fendrick has been drilling his bucketball players since the close of the football season on the fundamentals of good pass work and has a veteran aggregation pushed by a squad of coming players for first team berths.

Last year's toughies, the Butler Bulldogs, are going to be faced with loss of every first string man but Elwin Harris, center and captain. Players Coach Merrill Hall is working with for the team this year are Dwain Forbes, Ray Prosser, Junior Pritchard, Billy Hoover and Bill Thrush besides Harris.

Richard Irving, Lexington coach, is in somewhat the same position with but one letterman returning. Bill Ritchie, the letterman, however, will be joined by a large crew of players who have had playing experience. These are Ray Clever, Dwight Rinehart, Bob Snyder, Bob Wade, Willard Follett and Max Taylor. Another contestant for a first string post is Richard Creps.

Lucas is in somewhat better position with three lettermen returning from the team which was eliminated by Union in the tournament.

Ontario's Warriors have taken to the cage game in a big way this year with 35 reporting for the first practice, Orville Kibler, coach, reports. Of the 35, three are lettermen from last year's team. Lettermen are, Bill Gerberick, Jack Elliott and Junior Boleratz.

None of the positions on the team are settled yet, the coach maintains, and three transfers have joined the squad to make the competition a little keener. Transfers are Jim Griffeth from Tiro, Jim Moore from Norwalk and Bill Moore from Union school.

Union high school will put a 34 man team of Indians on the floor this season led by R. Hahn, R. Gramly and J. Hammett. To fill out the team Coach Emery Bethel, who joins the squad this year from Sardis, will select three other players from among these contestants—H. Mattox, J. Oswalt, R. Clawson, R. Lantz, D. Mawherr, L. Kuhn, E. Kuhn, J. Knight, R. McFadden.

Last year the Indians traveled through the county tourney by beating Ontario, and Lucas.

MOVE TO FORM COUNTY PISTOL SHOOTING CLUB

Pistol shooters from Ashland and Galion will join members of the Richland Gasco pistol club Nov. 26 at 8 p. m., in the basement of 128 North Main street (the Gasco range) in an effort to establish an Ashland-Galion-Mansfield pistol league.

C. A. Hassinger, Mansfield club chairman, said the league would be open to all those interested in the sport.

Case, Reserve Renew Rivalry

Cleveland Classic Heads Ohio Grid Card Today.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Case's football battle with Western Reserve today is a golden anniversary and a golden opportunity for Case.

Undefeated and untied in seven games this season, the Case Rough Riders are after their first perfect season record since 1893. The winner also gets the Big Four title, won last year by Reserve.

The final tally of the gate receipts is expected to show an attendance of about 40,000 at the contest, celebrating the two teams' first encounter in 1891.

Reserve, which has defeated the Rough Riders every year since 1927, has an almost perfect record for this season—spoiled only by the last minute of play in its first game, when Western Ontario blocked a punt and defeated the Red Cats 7 to 0.

Each team is counting on a single individual to provide its chief scoring threat. Western Reserve has a right halfback who hasn't been stopped this year—Mickey Sanzotta. Case has an outstanding fullback, Bob Melreit.

Each also has a star player whose injuries makes him an unknown factor. Case's speedy sophomore right halfback, Bill Eicher, suffered a badly bruised hip last week and may not be as effective as usual. Paul Hudson, senior left end and co-captain of Reserve, has a doubtful knee which may permit his to play only part of the game.

Reserve has defeated six teams by the following scores: Ohio university 7 to 0, Akron 12 to 6, Baldwin-Wallace 19 to 0, Kent State 20 to 0, John Carroll 27 to 20, and Miami 28 to 13.

Case won from seven opponents by these scores: Lehigh 33 to 26, Kent State 7 to 6, Wooster 40 to 0, John Carroll 8 to 6, Carnegie Tech 27 to 0, Baldwin-Wallace 35 to 7, and Ohio Wesleyan 7 to 0.

Six other games are scheduled for Ohio soil today while Rio Grande college goes to Bluefield, W. Va., for a contest with Bluefield college.

Denison plays Wittenberg at Springfield in the final Ohio conference game of the season.

A morning contest finds John Carroll meeting the University of Akron at Akron's Rubber Bowl.

Two clashes are on the program in Cincinnati with Providence college playing Xavier and Miami tackling the University of Cincinnati.

Dayton university goes to Athens for a game with Ohio university while Bowling Green entertains an out-of-state foe in Wayne (Mich.) university.

LOSING GRID STREAK STANDS AT 21 GAMES

BROWNWOOD, Tex. —(AP)— If Daniel Baker isn't the losingest football team in the nation, it will have to do until the outlying precincts report.

The Hill Billies haven't won a game since Nov. 4, 1939. And since last Saturday's 45-6 defeat by Southwestern ended the season, the losing streak will have to stand at 21 until next year.

Raklets Owns Long Record As Outstanding Ohio Pro

Tom Raklets, who announced in Youngstown last Saturday that he had signed as pro at Mansfield Westbrook Country club for next season, brings a long record as one of Ohio's outstanding golf professionals to the Mansfield club.

Way back in 1924 Raklets became pro at the Mahoning Valley club at the age of 18, and held the position for five years. From 1930 to '33 he was pro at Silver Lake Country club at Cuyahoga Falls.

Illness forced him out of action in 1934, but he was back in 1935 at pro at Avalon golf course at Warren, and in 1936 he was pro at Eastwood golf course, also at Warren. In 1937 and '38 he was at the Hubbard, O. golf course, and the past three seasons have found him back at his original club, the Mahoning Country club at Girard.

Raklets qualified for the National Open for five straight years from 1927 to 1931, and led the qualifying round for the National Open at Westwood Country club, Cleveland, in 1930, shooting a 71-73—144 to pace the field by three strokes. Playing in the rain, his score for the first six holes read: eagle 3, bogey 5, birdie 3, par 3, birdie 3, birdie 3, or four under par for the six.

He won the Youngstown district professional champion ship in 1927 and 1929 and was runner-up in 1928. Also in 1929 he copped the Florida West Coast Open with a 278 total for 72 holes. This was the only Florida tournament that season that Horton Smith failed to win.

Raklets won the Akron district open in 1930 with 70-69—146, and qualified for the P. G. A. championship in 1931. He says that for the past nine years he has stayed close to his home club and "taken care of business."

He expects to go to Florida about Jan. 1 for two months to tune up his game, and move his family to Mansfield early in March.

M'Bride Again Leads 'A' Loop

League Cools Off, But Only To Slight Extent.

City "A" league keglers cooled off last night from their torrid streak of a week ago, but not too much, Bud McBride again leading the maple massacre with a 667 total on games of 242-218-207.

Nine scores of 600 and over were turned in compared to 11 a week ago. Other 600 bowlers last night were Sonny Meder, 652, Johnny Leppo, 604, Smith, 601, Orlie Grable, 628, F. Vogel, 625, Duke Weber, 639, Keifer, 604, and Pete Linster, 618.

There were 44 games of 200 in the league scores compared to 40 last week. Duke Weber rolled high game with 258.

Liederkranz turned in high match of 3,011 on games of 1005-1055-951, while Lutz Lumber had a 1040 game and Goebel Beer 1019.

Mansfield Ends One Of Greatest Seasons

Record Now Stands At 7 Wins, 2 Ties, and 270 to 19 Score

MANSFIELD high school Tygers this afternoon ring down the curtain on one of the greatest gridiron seasons in the school's history as they battle Fremont's Little Giants in the Thanksgiving day game at Stadium field at 2:30 o'clock.

Coach Paul Snyder announced last night that an entire senior team will take the field for the Tygers on the opening kickoff, which means the starting eleven will be composed of Joe Romano and Bob Winbigler, ends; Bill Pecht and Ed Arlin, tackles; Duke Weber and Ken Smith, guards; Paul Dietzel, center; Bill Doolittle, quarterback; Ken Krupp and Elroy Lightnin' Jones, halfbacks, and Chuck Condon, fullback.

Five of these seniors, Romano, Winbigler, Dietzel, Condon and Krupp, will be battling for revenge for the double-overtime defeat handed them by Fremont in the semi-final round of the Sandusky basketball tournament last spring.

And all of the seniors will be in there working to add one more victory to the season's undefeated record in which the Tygers have piled up 270 points to 19 for the opposition, won seven games by decisive margins, and were tied only by mighty Massillon and almost as mighty Canton McKinley.

Just to check back on this highly successful season, the Tygers opened up with a 40 to 0 victory over Akron West, followed with a 39 to 0 win over Elyria, gained revenge over Sandusky 32 to 0, turned in their season's peak performance over Springfield 41 to 0, then battled Massillon to a 6 to 6 deadlock, followed with an easy 35 to 0 win over Cleveland Central, and another tie with Canton McKinley, 0 to 0, and last week closed a 40-year rivalry with Shelby by 46 to 13.

The Tygers really opened up with an aerial attack for the first time against Shelby, and found the overhead game a very effective weapon as big Bob Winbigler grabbed passes all over the place, three of them for touchdowns.

If the weather's right, you can expect the Tygers to continue their aerial tactics against Fremont this afternoon.

But the weatherman predicts cloudy and mild weather, with showers and local thunderstorms, so the Tygers may be forced to return to their ground attack.

Officials for today's game are Ralph Bauer, Elyria; Coach Buckner, Ashland, and Jay Winters, Bucyrus.

Bellville presents the darkest picture. The school faces a year without a single returning letterman and but four players who have seen much action.

George McIntyre, Blue Jay coach, says that Martin Hamilton, William Livingston, George Stoolt and Dick Levingston have had some experience, but that the team will have to be built with help from Dave and Robert Myers, Richard Bachelder, Joe Watkins, Homer Walker, Bill Keiser, Robert Bowers, Tom Ritter and Bob Myers.

Shiloh, which won three games last season, is starting the year's campaign under a new coach and with two lettermen returning. New coach is Charles Steidle from Elwood, Ind., and the lettermen are Junior James and Clyde. Team members with good chances to make the team are George Adams, Bob Hammond, Eugene Russell and Earl Stibings.

THEATERS

Zany Comedy.

"Never Give a Sucker An Even Break," W. C. Fields' latest adventure in film hilarity showing at the Ohio, was written around the star playing the role of himself. As a motion picture actor trying to sell a story Fields approaches Franklin Pangborn in the part of the producer. In his wanderings about the studio he meets his friends, Gloria Jean, Leon Errol, Butch and Buddy, all of whom appear as simply themselves. A fantastic journey to Mexico climaxes the picture with Susan Miller and Margaret Dumont appearing as the solitary dwellers on a mountain top.

Romantic Farce.

When a hotel convention hostess discovers her newshawk-sweetheart "planted" an editorial blasting the hotel the pace quickens in "Three Girls About Town," showing at the Madison with Joan Blondell, Binnie Barnes and Janet Blair in the title roles. John Howard plays the reporter who causes the battle that incidentally interrupts several hotel events including a "murder," morticians' conclave and defense strike. Robert Benchley plays the hotel owner and Eric Blore is in the cast. "The Ellery Queen Murder Ring" the co-attraction features Ralph Bellamy and Margaret Lindsay.

Hilarious Comedy.

"Charley's Aunt," film version of the popular stage success, now showing at the Ritz, gives Jack Benny the role of an English college student who masquerades in feminine finery to save the day for a fellow collegian. The hilarious predicament in which he places everybody concerned provides the show. A western thriller, "Land of Six Guns," with Jack Randall is the second attraction.

Campus Story.

Ruby Keeler is featured in "Sweetheart of the Campus," showing at the Park. Harriet Hilliard and Ozzie Nelson and his band are among the picture's main attractions. "Under Fiesta Stars," Gene Autry's starring vehicle is the co-feature.

Barrymore Antics.

John Barrymore and George Murphy are starred in "Hold That Co-Ed" opening Friday at the Majestic. "Royal Mounted Patrol," with Charles Sterrett and Russell Hayden shares the bill. The Thanksgiving program includes the Marx Brothers in "The Big Store," department store comedy with Tony Martin and Virginia Grey, also "Frontier Scout," with George Houston.

A DAY OF THANKSGIVING

(--and Re-Consecration)

Three hundred and twenty years ago a small band of figures made their way to a simple place of worship so they could offer a prayer of Thanksgiving for the first harvest in the new world to which they had come as pioneers. They had worked hard, suffered much to make homes, till the soil, and plant crops. They had faced each hardship courageously and now that the harvest was over and the first year successful, they set aside a day on which to thank God for the blessings He had bestowed upon them, and on which to re-consecrate themselves to the tasks yet ahead. They hoped and prayed that in this new world they might give their children a heritage of liberty and freedom . . . a heritage that should be precious even though there must be times when shoes would be worn thin; tears would be shed over gnawing hurt of hunger; and lives would be lost through hardship, disease and combat. This was Thanksgiving in the year 1621.

Today, too . . . Thanksgiving 1941 . . . should not only be a day of thankfulness, but one of re-consecration. We have a task . . . that of defending the way of life our forefathers won for us. Each of us must help, whether it be actual duty with the armed forces of our nation, civilian defense work or, just as important, honest display of patriotism and full support of everything that will help our country's cause. Let us today with renewed meaning . . . "pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America and to the republic for which it stands, one nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

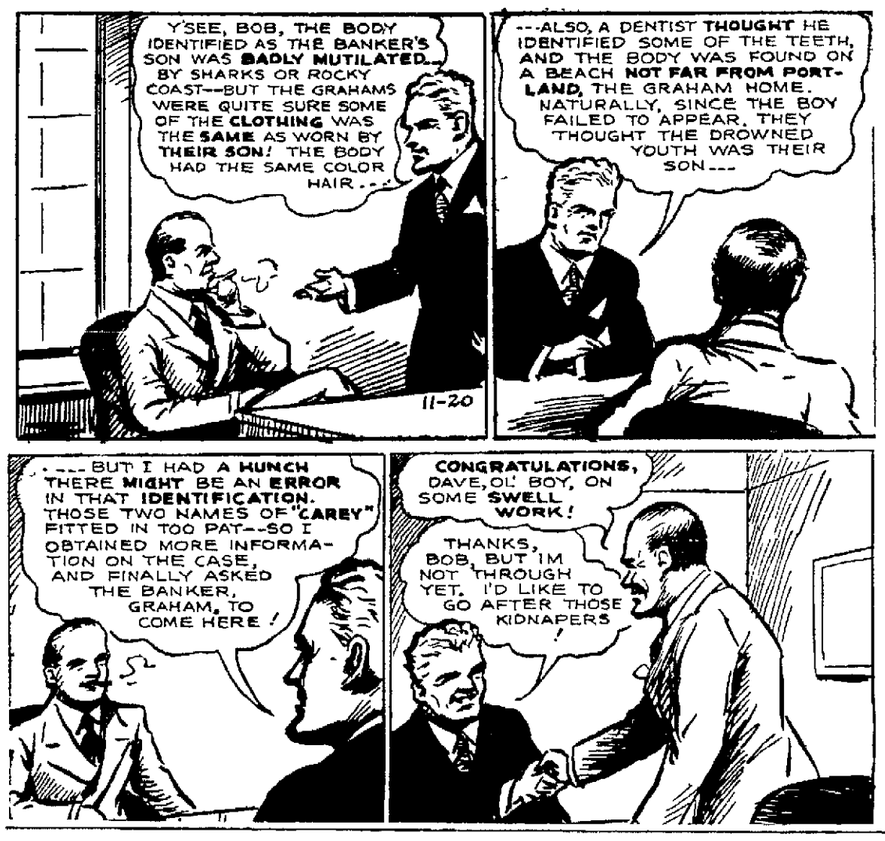
PAM—Not Through! By A. W. Brewerton



Y'SEE, BOB, THE BODY IDENTIFIED AS THE BANKER'S SON WAS BADLY MUTILATED BY SHARKS OR ROCKY COAST—BUT THE GRAHAMS WERE QUITE SURE SOME OF THE CLOTHING WAS THE SAME AS WORN BY THEIR SON! THE BODY HAD THE SAME COLOR HAIR...

—ALSO, A DENTIST THOUGHT HE IDENTIFIED SOME OF THE TEETH, AND THE BODY WAS FOUND ON A BEACH NOT FAR FROM PORTLAND, THE GRAHAM HOME. NATURALLY, SINCE THE BOY FAILED TO APPEAR, THEY THOUGHT THE DROWNED YOUTH WAS THEIR SON—
—BUT I HAD A HUNCH THERE MIGHT BE AN ERROR IN THAT IDENTIFICATION. THOSE TWO NAMES OF "CAREY" FITTED IN TOO PAT—SO I OBTAINED MORE INFORMATION ON THE CASE, AND FINALLY ASKED THE BANKER, GRAHAM, TO COME HERE!
CONGRATULATIONS, DAVE, OL' BOY, ON SOME SWELL WORK!
THANKS, BOB, BUT I'M NOT THROUGH YET. I'D LIKE TO GO AFTER THOSE KIDNAPERS!

HUNTS DENVER OFFICES

DENVER, Colo.—(U.P.)—The Federal government is having difficulties finding sufficient office space in Denver. The largest single renter in the city with four major office buildings for agencies, government officials are faced with a serious problem to find room for such new offices as the mountain state headquarters of the anti-trust division.

DRIVES INTO CAFE

BERKELEY, Cal.—Miss Evelyn A. Adams, 23, while parking a car, stepped on the accelerator instead of the brake. James Katotakis, owner of the restaurant, inside of which the car eventually found refuge via the plate glass window route, estimated total damage at $500.

CHAPTER XXVII

"Do you think he'll ever ask her to marry him? Goodness, what would I do without Tootsy!"

Polly laughed. "She wouldn't necessarily desert you, would she? Anyway it may not happen. He's shy, like Ken. With girls, I mean. But he's so much fun!"

"I think he's more like your brother."

Polly looked closely at the other girl. "How so, Joy?"

"Oh, something solid and fine. And dignified. Hadn't you noticed? Dr. Palmer faces any excitement without loss of poise. So does Ward. And—" Joy sighed. "They are equally aloof. I never knew a boy as hard to make friends with as your brother!"

Polly's heart leaped a bit.

"The girls are all crazy about him," Joy went on.

"What girls?"

"All of them. Of us, I mean. The college crowd. Haven't you heard them talk? No, you wouldn't, of course; you're his sister. But they do! And he won't see a one of us for sour apples!"

"Why Joy!" Polly pretended exasperation, smiling.

"It's a fact. Listen, you could do me a favor, chillun — that's Ward's favorite word for his friends — you could You could, uh, put in a word for me. Remember, I'm your bosom pal!"

Polly laughed, happily. She didn't remind Joy of another bit of "fixing" she had done a while back. She just said, "I'll try, maybe. But I have no power over Ward. He's as independent as sunrise."

Joy sighed again. "You're telling me!"

But this week and the week following, most of the 600 girls at Frontier university made increasingly elaborate preparations for the Spanish fiesta. The celebration 'feel" was already in the air.

Great Spanish shawls, each 20 feet square, had been strung all over downtown Phoenix as street decorations, and every business house in the shopping area was festooned with the shawls and with gay banners in Mexico's red, yellow and green array. At Central and Adams, principal business streets, a sombrero as tall as a three-story building occupied the intersection. A string orchestra played there each day from noon till midnight with radios carrying the music all over the state. More than half the population of Phoenix was already in Spanish costumes

On the campus, the girls became senoritas about 10 days ahead of time Virtually all the parties and other social events were done now in Mexican or Spanish motif, Dances and songs from below the border soared in popularity. Young men even took to serenading their sweethearts with guitars outside of dormitory windows—while, incidentally, all the other dormitory girls looked on!

Everywhere there was a "spirit," as Dr. Palmer said. A feel of friendliness, of cares forgotten and let merriment reign. It was the genuine fiesta spirit taking hold.

Meantime, too, the Frontier campus was more and more astir about its selection of fiesta queen. Who should lead the grand parade on Nov. 11? Who should be crowned in the great hall in Civic auditorium? Who should accept all the gifts from neighboring cities in behalf of Phoenix? Who should pose for the news reels and the countless amateur cameramen, grant the press interviews, be the admired one for the whole five days of the fiesta?

Who indeed but Polly McMurray! Or Joy Boone!

This season Frontier had but two outstanding personalities among its students They were "naturals' people said. But which? The rivalry was as inevitable as it was genuine.

"The choice is to be made by popular vote on the university campus," said the Phoenix morning newspaper, editorially "So far every indication seems to point to Miss Boone. She is nationally renowned. Her backers say she has done more for Frontier than any other student the school ever had, by putting it in the national spotlight. Miss Boone is known as America's Personality Girl and as such is featured elaborately in the current issue of a national picture magazine. She also was the subject of recent news reel shorts, and of a series of articles syndicated to leading newspapers everywhere. In each instance the university figured prominently also. The local Chamber of Commerce feels that this is extremely valuable publicity which could not be bought at any price, and that appreciation of some kind should be given to Miss Boone."

On the other hand, as the newspaper editor also stated, Polly McMurray had a powerful backing on the campus too It grew more powerful after that editorial appeared and after a radio commentator made mention of it.

Matters snowballed in interest so that the excitement extended quite beyond the campus and town and out into the ranch country, all over the state! To Dr Palmer's astonishment, rural residents began to write in their opinions; ranch men, and women as well. One and all sprung to defend Polly.

"It's high time we got to backing one of our own daughters," declared big Travis Cox, president of the Arizona Cattle Dealers' association. "We helped set up that university. Miss Polly is Buck McMurray's own child. I aim to stick by her, myself."

Travis Cox was a power in both the business and politics of this state. His opinion and sentiments always carried weight.

"The upshot," said the morning newspaper a few days later, "is that a mass meeting has been called on the Frontier campus with the avowed purpose of 'doing something about it.' Exactly who will do what isn't known, but the ranchers are telephoning and talking and planning. In any event this year's fiesta will not lack interest for the public at large. And whichever girl is chosen, if it be either of these two, will rank high in both beauty and public favor."

As for Joy, she took all the hullabaloo as a matter of routine. Her life had been fraught with such noisy attention. But Polly was shocked. She maneuvered to stay out at the ranch as much as possible, away from people.

Young Ken Palmer was the one of their immediate little group of friends most distressed of all. He read the papers and heard the constant talk with a growing sense of anger and apprehension.

"I don't like it, dad," young Ken Palmer was saying, at lunch. "The thing is getting out of hand."

"I quite agree with you. A bit of harmless fun and competition is one thing, but to involve a whole university and state in—"

"Besides," Ken wasn't listening to his father, "she must not be done this way! She is above all this!"

"I beg your pardon?"

"Yes sir. And another thing—she didn't invite it, did nothing to bring it on It's not as if she were deliberately trying to force herself on the public's attention. I tell you she is above all such ballyhoo!"

Dr. Palmer spoke levelly "You are quite vehement, son. And just who, pray tell, is 'she?' I had thought we referred to the university"

"Hunh?"

"Um Kenyon, it ill becomes—"

"I was speaking of Polly. Polly McMurray"

Dr Palmer's eyebrows arched. "So? I see!"

"Yes sir. And excuse me, please, I don't want any dessert. I've got to meet Polly in a moment She wants my advice."

"You are excused Business advice, no doubt?"

"Yes sir In a way."

He didn't see the laughter that had crept into Dr Palmer's eyes. He was up and gone, a young man with serious personal matters in mind

FARMERS SCORE U. S. WAR ROLE

land from invasion by any foreign foe and are just as determined to oppose sending our boys to the foreign battle field to take part in the intrigue and deception of old world politics," one of the resolutions said.

The Guild pledged its cooperation, however, in helping to get food to the stricken people of Europe who "are the victims of the war mongers abroad and are starving."

Another resolution condemned the military conscription for "taking the flower of American youth into a camp for a period of one year and against their will extending the service to two and a half years, tending to weaken their confidence in the integrity of the government."

The Guild would avoid widespread unemployment as the result of defense priorities by giving small manufacturers enough raw materials to operate at 75 per cent of their normal capacity during the present emergency.

The farm group passed resolutions opposing price-fixing by the government and urging extension of the Dies investigation of un-American activities.

Describing the federal government's control of farm production and collection of the 49-cent wheat penalty as un-democratic, the Guild commended the Wheat Marketing Protest associations for their fight for repeal of the marketing quotas and tax.

Robert S. Spencer of Monticello, Ind., was re-elected president of the Guild. Other officers chosen for another year were Edward E. Kennedy, Laurel, Md., and Arthur Helleman, Fremont, Ill., vice presidents. Cecil Tanner, Kankakee, Ill., was elected secretary-treasurer. G. S. Hagans, Urbana, O., and Samuel D. Mohr, Frankfort, Ind., were elected directors.

GIVE FURNITURE

Gifts from Schroers are certain to put stars in the eyes and warmth in the thanks of the receiver. Here's where you'll find the things that are individual and a bit unusual—gifts that have captured the intrinsic beauty, the radiance of Christmas morn Not just a coffee table, but the warm heart of a living room, not just a love seat, but a comfortable haven—not just a desk, but a mental sanctuary—not just a lamp, but a welcoming glow. Gifts with an enduring quality that make them more precious with the years. They'll never stop saying "Merry Christmas."
